Lebanese truce effective today

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The 20th cease-fire in the 11-month-old Lebanese civil war took effect at noon today. Only scattered small-arms fire was reported in Beirut and nearby mountain resort towns that have been the scene of hard fighting in the past two weeks.

The truce was to last 10 days. A Syrian blueprint called for Christian President Suleiman Franjeh to resign during that period, opening the way for political reforms to increase the political and economic power of the country's Moslem majority.

Spokesmen for the warring leftist Moslems and right-wing Christians said their young street fighters were generally observing the cease-fire. They reported only minor violations. Palestine guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat told all guerrilla groups to help enforce the standstill.

Franjeh sent no word that he would resign. But the Syrian government, which pressured leftist warlord Kamal Junblatt into accepting the cease-fire with a threat of military intervention, publicly guaranteed that the 65-year-old president would quit as soon as a new president was elected.

Franjeh was bombed out of the presidential palace east of Beirut by Junblatt's forces March 25. His temporary headquarters in the Christian port of Jounieh 12 miles north of Beirut would not say officially whether he would quit. But some aides said he would stay on even if a new president were elected.

The 99-member parliament was scheduled to meet Monday to adopt a constitutional amendment ending Franjeh's term immediately and permitting election of a new president. Another session was tentatively set for Thursday for the election.

Christians still have a 6-5 majority in parliament and presumably will choose another Christian president. But Junblatt reportedly has agreed to this despite his insistence that the religious basis to Lebanon's political system must be abolished, and majority — meaning Moslem — rule must prevail.

When the French freed Lebanon after World War II, the Christians were in the majority and a political system was adopted giving them the presidency and dominance in parliament, the civil service, the armed forces and ultimately the economy.

Now the Moslems are in the majority, and for 11 months they have been fighting for more power. Syria proposed after the last cease-fire in March a 50-50 division between the Moslems and Christians, but Junblatt seized the military initiative and has been demanding Moslem control as a prelude to conversion of the free-enterprise economy to socialism.

"We now want a quick transition from sectarianism to a modern secular system," Junblatt told reporters after agreeing to the new cease-fire, the 20th in the nearly year-long fighting that has taken an estimated 14,000 lives.

Police reported no fighting in Beirut for the second night but said there were sporadic clashes in the summer resorts in the hills overlooking the capital. Spokesmen said Junblatt's tough mountain warriors made repeated forays in attempts to win control of Kahhaleh, a strategic crossroads town seven miles east of Beirut.

Police spokesman said the Christians repulsed the attacks for the fourth day.

SNOW WHITE — Although temperatures have been low for the past few days, this star magnolia plant has evidently caught spring fever. Located in front of the Mark Girton residence, 517 Mayfair Dr., the new growth's white coloring is not due to snowfall, as has been the case recently many other blooms.

Report Accord near in Teamster strike

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — The Teamsters union's coast-to-coast truck strike rolled into its second day today with bargainers reported "very close" to agreement on a total economic package.

But sources close to both sides said disagreement on how the money package should be distributed among wages, cost-of-living benefits and other contract items remained to be settled when negotiations resumed today.

The work stoppage already has begun slowing the movement of goods, produced some scattered violence and has both government and business leaders deeply worried about the possible impact on the nation's commercial well-being.

All four U.S. auto makers said they would have to start shutting down production plants next week if the largest walkout ever by truckers is still on.

Labor Secretary W.J. Usery Jr., the key federal official involved in the dispute between 400,000 Teamsters and the trucking industry, remained at the bargaining site in this Chicago suburb trying to resolve the lingering money disputes.

Ford administration sources said it appeared that the government would refrain, at least temporarily, from taking action to invoke the Taft-Hartley

Act while bargaining continued and there were indications of progress. The act provides for a 80-day cooling-off period, but that would take the pressure off negotiators.

Usery's continued presence at the talks was taken as one hopeful sign. He canceled tentative plans to return Thursday to Washington and remained until negotiations recessed at 1:20 a.m. this morning. An aide said he would stay in the negotiations again today.

Usery said five or six money issues were all that kept the two sides apart. However, business leaders around the country sent telegrams Thursday to Washington, urging Ford to obtain a back-to-work order.

Some 60 per cent of the nation's manufactured products are moved by truck, and some key industries had only a few days' supply of materials at hand. But grocery store and gasoline supplies appeared generally to be adequate for the short term, and hospital facilities generally indicated no immediate shortages in essential medical supplies, drugs or equipment.

Several grocery store associations indicated that it would be at least a week before food supplies might begin to reflect the strike's effects.

The federal Department of Transportation said one million workers would be forced off their jobs by a week-long strike, translating to a $300-million loss to the economy.

Federal officials also feared that a big Teamsters settlement would touch off yet another inflationary wage spiral, setting the pattern for other big-labor industries that negotiate later in the year.

Teamsters in the continental United States manned picket lines when their three-year contract expired at 12:01 a.m. Thursday. Many trucking firms, however, were able to keep their rigs operating after they signed individual interim agreements to meet Teamsters demands for $1.75 hourly in salary increases and another $17 a week in pension, health and welfare benefits.

Those demands, plus an unlimited cost-of-living increase, are contained in the three-year package the union was last reported seeking in the negotiations here with Trucking Employers Inc., the industry bargaining agent representing 16,000 companies.

Candidates stump for New York, Wisconsin votes

By The Associated Press

President Ford took his campaign for a full term in the White House to Wisconsin today while Democrats battling for their party's presidential nomination sought votes there and in New York.

First on Ford's agenda for today was a news conference in Milwaukee, followed by a trip to West Bend. He planned stops Saturday in Fond du Lac and Green Bay — all in search of urban, ethnic and farm votes in Tuesday's balloting.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, Washington Sen. Henry M. Jackson and Arizona Rep. Morris K. Udall, contestants in the Democratic race, were on a single stage in New York City on Thursday. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., unannounced as a candidate but willing to accept a draft, was there, too.

Humphrey drew frequent and loud applause as he called for a new Marshall Plan to rebuild the cities. The Marshall Plan was devised after World War II to reconstruct Europe.

The New York primary is also next Tuesday.

By evening, Carter and Jackson were in Buffalo and Udall was headed for Wisconsin. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has been in Wisconsin for several days and planned to stay there through the weekend.

The primaries in Wisconsin and New York are the first since Ford was upset by Ronald Reagan in North Carolina on March 23.

Reagan, the former California governor, is listed on the GOP ballot in Wisconsin, but he called off all campaign appearances in the state this week to concentrate on a national television speech Wednesday night. In the speech, he assailed Ford's administration, particularly of foreign policy.

Discussion at Thursday morning's forum in New York City, sponsored by the National Conference of Democratic Mayors, was on urban issues.

Jackson and Udall, as they have before, called for a federal takeover of all welfare costs, while Carter said he was against the idea.

The former Georgia governor said such a takeover would add $15 billion to $20 billion to the budget without improving benefits. The states should carry the welfare burden, he said, not local governments.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has said it does not know exactly how much it would cost for the federal government to assume all welfare costs.

Neither Jackson nor Udall said specifically how they would pay for such a program, although Jackson has said he would finance his social programs through full employment, which he has said would raise the government's income tax revenues.

Wallace, in an interview in Rhinelander, Wis., said the United States is more dependent on foreign energy sources than it was during the oil embargo of 1973-74. He called for Congress to enact a national energy conservation plan.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, the most recent entrant in the Democratic race, said he will ask the three television networks to sell him a half-hour for a live address.

In Neenah, Wis., former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird accused Reagan of making a phony attack on America's military might in his nationally televised address.

The former California governor "deliberately misled the American people by using false quotes to gain a slight advantage in the campaign," Laird said while campaigning for Ford. Reagan said Wednesday night that Ford's foreign policy has left the United States in second place militarily behind the Soviet Union.

Laird said Reagan's attack should have been directed instead against the Democratic-controlled Congress for cutting defense spending.

There were these other political developments Thursday:

—The most recent Harris survey showed Humphrey the preferred choice for the Democratic nomination, with Carter running a clear second, followed

Nonsmoking bill passed by Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio could become the 33rd state with a law regulating smoking in public places, although a bill that has cleared the Senate doesn't apply to restaurants, liquor spots and bowling alleys.

Sen. M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, a nonsmoker, won 25-7 approval Thursday of his measure which he said represents a compromise with restaurant operators who objected mainly on grounds of expense and customer inconvenience.

The Cleveland lawmaker's bill had been pending in the Senate Rules Committee for almost a year. He said it "is not frivolous. It's a bill whose time has come. It is not a no smoking bill. It simply recognizes that the nonsmoker has a right to breathe relatively clean air."

Under the bill, which now goes to the House, nonsmoking areas would have to be designated in enclosed theaters (except lobbies), classrooms, hospital rooms, state institutions and universities, rest homes, office buildings, libraries, museums, and vehicles used for public transportation. Lighting up in a nonsmoking area would make a smoker subject to arrest and a $100 fine, under Jackson's bill.

He said similar legislation was introduced last year in 45 of the 50 states, and that 32 of them so far have enacted laws.

Jackson, in response to a question, said his bill would apply to the Statehouse and to the Senate chamber itself. However, he said his bill is "flex-

Breakup of oil firms pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new effort to break up the nations' largest oil corporations into a host of smaller companies may have won the approval of a Senate panel but the industry giants are far from becoming one-pump outfits.

The proposal to force the break-up of the 18 largest oil companies won bare 4 to 3 approval Thursday from the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on anti-trust, but despite its earth-shaking intentions, the move caused few ripples on Capitol Hill.

Getting through the subcommittee is probably the easiest test the bill will face, and there were no predictions that it would successfully make it through the full Judiciary Committee, much less through Congress and past the President.

Backers of the measure hailed it as major legislation for consumers.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who originally introduced the legislation, said breaking up the 18 industry giants would increase competition and "result in enormous benefit to the consuming public."

James F. Flug, director of Energy Action, a self-styled public interest lobbying group, said the measure "makes good economic sense for consumers, investors and the industry itself."

But William P. Tavoulareas, president of Mobil Oil Corp., warned that even subcommittee approval of the measure was "a first step toward higher energy prices and a serious weakening of the nation's ability to become self-sufficient in energy. This is not the time for sweeping social experiments that could jeopardize the nation's energy security in order to provide short-term benefits for a few politicians."

A Judiciary Committee staff aide said it probably would be at least three weeks before the proposal would reach the full committee. But Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who won major changes in Bayh's bill in an effort to win more support for it, said he hoped the full committee would give the measure some priority.

Bayh said a filibuster to block action may be attempted in the Judiciary Committee, and he noted it is more difficult to end a filibuster in a committee than on the Senate floor.

As approved by the subcommittee, the measure would affect Exxon, Texaco, Shell, Standard of Indiana, Gulf, Mobil, Standard of California, Atlantic-Richfield, Getty, Union, Sun, Phillips, Continental, Cities Service, Marathon, BP-Sohio, Amerasia Hess and Ashland.

The measure would require the companies to confine their operations to one of four principal segments of the industry — production, marketing, refining or transportation — and to divest themselves of other operations. Refiners would be permitted to retain retail outlets held prior to Jan. 1.

Senate seeks disclosure of intelligence costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate intelligence committee will seek to force the public disclosure of the total amount of money the United States spends each year on spy operations.

Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Thursday the panel would either publish the spending figure in its final report or recommend the dollar amount be made public when Congress is asked to approve the intelligence budget. The committee got the figure from intelligence officials during its inquiry into the U.S. intelligence organization.

The Ford administration opposes both options, arguing that disclosure of even a lump-sum figure would give valuable information to rival intelligence services. "It's not at the confrontation stage yet," one administration official said in reference to the panel's intentions. "But I would predict it will become confrontational."

The intelligence panel seeks to make public includes the annual budgets of the CIA, the National Security Agency, the Defense Intelligence Agency, the State Department's bureau of intelligence and research and the FBI's intelligence division.

The House intelligence committee

estimated annual intelligence spending at $10 billion, but the official sum as reflected in the budgets of the various intelligence agencies has never been revealed.

Church and other members of the Senate panel say publication of the figure is required under the Constitution, which states that no funds may be spent by the government without a public accounting.

An administration official acknowledged there is no practical way to prevent the committee from publishing the figure in its final report, scheduled to be released later this month, saying, "I don't see how we could prevent them from printing information we gave them."

The administration would appear to have a better chance of blocking disclosure if the committee chooses not to publish the figure but to recommend its disclosure in future Senate debates on the budget.

Church said this option was based on the assumption that the Senate would create a new committee with jurisdiction over the entire intelligence community.

A resolution to create such a panel currently is before the Senate Rules Committee but has met strong objections from key senators.

Laborer wins Ohio Lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Conneaut laborer says his winning of the Ohio Lottery's Buckeye 1,000 contest Thursday will help ease him into retirement.

"At my age, the most important thing is that the money will solve my retirement problems," said 58-year-old George J. Gleason. He will receive $1,000 a month for life and is guaranteed $400,000.

As for how else he's going to spend his winnings, Gleason said "I'm going to find a quiet, secluded place to think about it. I purposely wasn't going to spend anything in my mind until I saw the money."

He is the father of three and he operates machines for a welding company in Ashtabula.

Ohio Lottery spokesmen said the other winners were George Reichert of Celina, $4,000; Charles Miller of LaRue, $3,000; Maurice Gordon of Islip, N.Y., $2,000; Don Matthews of Indianapolis, $1,000.

In the Buckeye 1,000, the six-digit number was 288196; the five-digit number was 66236; the four-digit number was 8674 and the three-digit number was 982. In the Spirit of '76, the six-digit number was 107181; the five-digit number was 89730 and the four-digit number was 4480. The Liberty Bell numbers were 13,16,14 and 55.

Job plans push red ink higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-minute addition for jobcreating programs boosts the proposed congressional budget target to more than $413 billion, which would mean a federal deficit of $50 billion next year and a clash this spring with President

Ford over spending. Ford is seeking a $395-billion spending lid for the 1977 fiscal year, which begins October 1, and a deficit of no more than $42.9 billion. The House and Senate budget committees met in separate sessions

Series begins next week to introduce committeemen

The Record-Herald will begin Monday a series of articles about precinct representatives to the Republican and Democratic central committees.

One member of each political party from each precinct is elected to serve on the central committee of his respective party.

For the most part, this will serve only to introduce the residents of the precinct to his representative because in most cases not more than one Republican and one Democrat have filed as candidates.

The only exceptions are city precinct 4-C and county precinct Union West. In each of these precincts, two Democrats will vie for election to the Democratic Central Committee.

The precinct committeemen are important to their constituents because they are the neighborhood representative to each political party. Through them, their neighbors may convey their feelings as to what their respective parties can do to improve local politics.

The candidates to be presented will be elected during the June 8 primary election. The 44 precinct representatives compose the central committee of their respective party.

Each party's central committee then elects, from its own ranks, and executive committee.

When a county office becomes vacant for any reason, the central committee of the party of the elected official appoints his replacement. By making their wishes known to their local committee-men, all county residents can provide input in the selection process.

Each party's executive committee sponsors fund-raising events to generate money for political candidates. It also works closely with party "clubs" which raise money for candidates.

Thus, the central committee helps determine which candidates will receive monetary support and to what extent they will be aided financially.

In those precincts where one party or the other has no committeeman registered for the primary ballot, the central committee will appoint a representative following the election.

The Record-Herald will contact each precinct representative who has filed for the upcoming election and provide a brief introduction to the public.

Jobless figures for March given

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged down to 7.5 per cent of the work force in March, marking the fifth straight monthly decline and the longest sustained drop in 14 years, the government said today.

Although the decline was slight — down from 7.6 per cent in February — Labor Department analysts said the steady improvement since October reflected continuing economic recovery from the recession.

Blacks and women benefited most from the March decline in unemployment, which was down by about 100,000, to a total of 7 million last month.

Total employment continued climbing in March, rising by another 375,000 to an all-time high of 86.7 million, the government said. Since reaching a recession-low last March, the number of Americans with jobs has risen by 2.6 million, with adult women accounting for more than half of the over-the-year increase.

The last time the unemployment rate dropped five consecutive months was between September 1961 and February 1962.

Unemployment declined gradually from the recession peak of 8.9 per cent last May and hovered about 8.6 per cent before beginning a rapid decline last October. But even with the improvement the jobless rate at 7.5 per cent remains far above its normal post World War II level.

Nevertheless, the Ford administration cited the improvement in the jobless rate and the declining inflation rate as vindication of its cautious economic policy. It also has been a boost to President Ford's election campaign.

Government economists see further improvement in the jobless rate this year, but caution that the decline is not likely to be continuous every month. In advance of the new unemployment report, Julius Shiskin, commissioner of labor statistics, had said he wouldn't be surprised to see the jobless rate edge up in March.

Shiskin said the normal decline in unemployment during the first year after a recession is about 1.5 per cent. By February, it had already fallen by more than 1 per cent, and he predicted a drop of another one-half to three-quarters of a point during the rest of the year.

Other economists, including Sidney L. Jones, assistant treasury secretary for economic affairs, say statistics can move rapidly for a period of time, then reach a plateau and "hang up for a while."

The last time unemployment has been below 7.5 per cent was in December 1974 when it was 7.2 per cent.

Jobless rates among most of the worker groups in the labor force were relatively unchanged last month with the exception of blacks whose unemployment rate fell 1.2 per cent to 12.5 per cent. Much of the improvement was among adult women, the government said.

Joblessness among blacks is now down nearly 2 percentage points from last September's peak of 14.4 per cent.

by Jackson, Udall and Wallace.

Humphrey defeated Carter 48 per cent to 43 per cent and the others by wider margins, the poll said.

—John B. Connolly, the former Texas governor and Treasury secretary, said he believes Ford has the best chance of winning the GOP presidential nomination.

—A Senate appropriations subcommittee approved the spending of $5.2 million in federal money for security at this summer's national political conventions.

—The House approved a comprehensive revision of the campaign finance law, rejecting Ford's request for a simple bill to get money flowing again to presidential candidates.

The Federal Election Commission's authority to distribute federal matching money to candidates expired March 22 under a Supreme Court ruling. So far, candidates have piled up $1.1 million in funding requests awaiting the commission's renewal.

The House bill has several basic differences from the one approved by the Senate last week.

Stock prices go lower

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off more than a point minutes after the opening, and New York Stock Exchange listed losers topped gainers by about a 4 to 3 margin.

The trucking strike, a factor in the previous session's decline, was seen by analysts as a continuing market depressant. Talks between trucking firms and teamsters were continuing today.

As the market opened, the Labor Department reported the nation's unemployment rate fell by 0.1 percentage point to 7.5 per cent in March, the fifth monthly drop in a row.

Among today's prices, United Nuclear was ahead 1/8 to 26 1/2, Mobil Oil was off 1/4 to 56, and Kodak lost 3/4 to 118 1/2.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 5.35 to 994.10, with losers holding a 3-2 edge over gainers among NYSE-listed issues.

Big Board volume was a relatively light 17.91 million shares.

The NYSE's composite stock index was down 0.26 to 54.54, while the American Exchange's market value index was off 0.34 to 103.90.

FBI activity disclosures not enough?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House panel plans a critical review of Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi's plan to notify only some of the victims of the FBI's Cointelpro campaign of harassment.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., said Thursday a judiciary subcommittee that the chairs will examine the plan and may summon Levi to explain why he chose not to notify all Cointelpro targets.

"It would seem to me that all of the persons who were subject to harassment should be advised," Edwards said in an interview.

The Justice Department announced Thursday that Levi has assigned three department lawyers, including an FBI agent, to determine who "may have been personally harmed by improper Cointelpro activities."

The department will attempt to notify those persons that they were Cointelpro targets. Full details of the improper harassment will be provided only to those who request it.

"That's really totally unacceptable," said Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a member of the Edwards' subcommittee. "It's outrageous that three faceless lawyers will pick and choose. We'll insist that every one be informed."

Cointelpro was the FBI name for 12 counterintelligence programs conducted at various times between 1956 and 1971 to harass and disrupt militant political groups on the left and right. The targets included the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Ku Klux Klan, Students for a Democratic Society and the Communist Party USA.

The harassment campaign directly or indirectly affected thousands of Americans who were associated with the target groups.

Cointelpro tactics often involved sending anonymous letters to cause trouble for an individual with his employer or family and distributing phony literature to stir dissension among organizations.

GAO doubts New York stability

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office, the congressional audit agency, is less optimistic than Treasury Secretary William E. Simon about New York City's ability to repay emergency federal loans, a senator says.

The head of the GAO, Comptroller General Elmer Staats, is testifying today before the Senate Banking Committee about his agency's assessment of the city's financial prospects.

Simon told the panel Thursday that there is basis for "cautious optimism" that New York City can repay its current $1.26-billion loan to the federal government along with carrying out its promise to balance its books.

But chairman Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who gives New York City a guarded chance of accomplishing that, said a GAO report to be released at the hearing is not quite so optimistic.

While he would not discuss the details of the report, Proxmire said Staats is "more skeptical on their (New York City's) ability to repay (the loans) and balance their budget than Secretary Simon."

The status of the city has caused some concern.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey told the panel that New York is "out of the disaster area. We are not out of the area of grim reality."

OSU television sets welfare system series

A series of five television shows entitled "Welfare: Who Needs It?" will examine the issues of poverty, welfare, and American values beginning Monday.

The series is produced by the Ohio Citizens' Council and the Ohio State University College of Humanities in conjunction with the Telecommunications Center at Ohio State University. The Ohio Program in the Humanities, which funds programs showing how the humanities bear on issues of current interest, provided partial funding for the project.

An introduction to the series entitled "What is welfare?" will be aired April 5 on Channel 34. This program covers the forms of welfare, qualifications for receiving it, and the stereotypes of the poor. The categories of public assistance and the functions of welfare will also be viewed.

The program will deal with issues of whether welfare causes poverty, and if the cost of the bureaucracy is really justified. Perhaps welfare is not the only answer to the question of how to meet the needs of the people.

On April 12, "Public responses to the poor: A historical perspective" will be shown. This program examines welfare from a historical viewpoint. Beginning with the welfare system in highly urbanized imperial Rome, the program traces the origin of welfare, gives both historical impression and today's perceptions, and covers the New Deal programs.

This program will attempt to show whether or not the welfare system has ever attacked the real causes of poverty, and if the basic ideas of the welfare system have changed since Elizabethan times.

"Welfare and the work ethic: An American issue" may be viewed on April 19. This program examines the conflict in American ideology between the work ethic and the assumptions of the welfare system. Topics covered include: the definition of the work ethic, how worker and work attitudes have changed, the rights of those on welfare, and the role of the private vs. public sector. The program brings up the question of whether everyone in our society can work, and whose responsibility it is to create jobs.

On April 26, the public may hear a discussion of "The welfare bureaucracy." This program discusses the nature of the system which confronts a welfare recipient, and its goals and functions. The dehumanizing aspects of welfare are shown, along with the conflicting goals of the welfare system, the problems of the bureaucracy, and the ways people become "locked into" the system. This presentation brings to mind thought-provoking questions such as "Does our present system encourage 'cheating,' and can it be improved without resolving the conflicting goals?"

The concluding one-hour program is entitled "Poverty and welfare: What are the alternatives?" and will be aired May 3. This program explores possible improvements provides for the improvement of the coverage of programs related to welfare, such as workman's compensation, unemployment compensation, and Medicaid. Other changes discussed include: eliminating red tape, raising the eligibility levels, ending discrimination, and distributing cash, not in-kind benefits.

Nobody likes welfare, but it is possible to produce an alternative that is both economically sound and politically viable? The shows will be aired at 7 p.m. on Mondays over WOSU-TV, Columbus.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — "An enraged and bitter John Randolph left Pat when Liz told him about Marianne's abortion. Barbara Weaver has been offering her comfort ... to John and he wants to make the relationship permanent!"

A Rona Barrett revelation? Nope, only the opening line in a week's worth of plot summaries of "Another World," one of 14 soap operas closely observed each week by 25-year-old Manuela Soares.

It isn't that the lady, who graduated from Rutgers in 1973 with a degree in comparative literature, is going for a master's in comparative anguish. It's her job to write summaries of soap opera plot lines.

She's the editor and chief plot-watcher at "Daily TV Newsletter," a New York publication that each week keeps viewers posted on both soapy story lines and the doings of daytime drama stars. The newsletter costs $24 a year for 48 issues.

Miss Soares, who says the newsletter began in July 1974 and now has almost 12,000 subscribers, including one in Ethiopia, admits she hadn't much time while in school to watch daytime television.

But now she sees no less than seven soap operas each weekday, five days a week. She switches the dial to inspect episodes of all 14 daytime dramas during the week and thus check what she sees against the material provided her by the producers of each soap opera.

"It's just to make sure," says Miss Soares, a native of Irvington, N.J. "They discuss the shows with me, but you still have to watch to get a lot of the nuances and to really know what's happening."

Keeping track of 70 plot lines a week sounds like an ordeal guaranteed to put one in the Home for the Befuddled. But Miss Soares, who does her viewing on two TV sets in her office, insists it isn't all that difficult.

"After a while, you get so you can manage to do other work and keep an ear on the TV set," she says. "Of course, the music is very helpful. You can tell there's something coming up just judging by the music."

Miss Soares, a veteran of more than a year of soap opera-watching, recently added "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" to her coverage. But she only writes feature stories about it, not plot summaries.

This is because more than half the stations carrying it air it at night, including WNEV-TV here. The lateness of the WNEV showing causes an understandable problem for Miss Soares, who explains it this way:

"I find it difficult to stay up until 11 o'clock at night to watch 'Mary Hartman' after watching television all day."

Court curbs on press freedom

A new Twentieth Century Fund task force report should help to correct a dangerous swing toward growing court restraints on the press with regard to criminal proceedings. The report provides the public with a welcome reminder that "the essential meaning of freedom of the press is that editors - not judges or any other public officials - should determine what to publish."

This is the heart of the matter. For while the effort to assure a fair trial for defendants is important, this cannot properly be achieved by judicial curbs on the constitutional guarantee of press freedom.

It does not follow that the press has no obligation to exercise responsible news judgment in an effort to minimize the tension between these conflicting rights of fair trial and press freedom; of course it has. The press must acknowledge that there is some justification for the dissent entered by one task force member, U.S. District Judge John R. Bartels of New York, who deplored "excessive zeal, lack of restraint and in some cases irresponsible behavior on the part of some members of the press during the course of a trial."

We concur with the task force majority, however, in maintaining that codes meant to guide conduct of courts and the press in such situations must remain voluntary. Writing such codes into law would, the report said, "stultify" the intent of the First Amendment. The verb is aptly chosen.

The Twentieth Century Fund group did not operate in a vacuum. In recent times there has been a surge of judicial attempts to control press coverage of criminal proceedings and related events. The study was evidently undertaken in response to this.

Some of the judicial practices deplored in the report need to be reiterated. It cites orders forbidding publication of material obtained outside the courtroom, a restraint which clearly violates both letter and spirit of the free press guarantee. It notes court imposition of silence on defendants, lawyers and others from whom information is normally obtained. It points to reliance on secrecy, in particular "a disturbing tendency to exclude the press (and thus the public) from significant portions of a criminal proceeding."

One point in the report merits special attention. This is the lack of provision for quick appeal from curbs on the press, which has the effect of delaying relief "until the passage of time has drained the suppressed information of its news value." That dangerously undercuts the freedom of the press - and this, in turn, inhibits the public's right to know about judicial proceedings.

LOCAL VIEWPOINT . . . by Geoff Mavis

Holmes investigates murder

It was in the Spring of '76 that my companion Sherlock Holmes and I were summoned to the county seat on urgent business.

The master detective had appeared on my doorstep in a state of animated excitement, informing me that I was to leave at once with him on a new case.

Not until we had reached the outskirts of the town of 13,000 people did my friend break an intense state of concentration that had hung over him since our departure.

"There is more fog surrounding recent events in this town than in all of London, Watson," he said.

Eager for a chance to converse, and curious to know what our mission would be, I asked Holmes to explain.

"It is simply this: a crime has been committed, and due to a lack of facts available to the public, many rumors are spreading about."

"But who is desirous of our services, Holmes, and what do you propose to do?" I asked.

"The local newspaper has requested that I investigate, and I am to get to the bottom of this matter."

"But surely, Holmes, I interjected, neither you nor anyone else should interfere with the law enforcement operations and their attempts to construct a valid case. Sensational misinformation can hamper and even destroy the police department's work."

"True, Watson, I can only obtain the facts. From then on it is up to the media to see that they are reported fairly and without hearsay or bias."

"But where do you get the facts," I demanded. "Few have been released so far. Perhaps there is nothing of use."

"Ah, but there are facts to be used, Watson, and the facts that I am talking about are those that provide information, and do not hamper official investigations."

"Surely you are treading a thin line," I said. The solution to the problem depends upon whose side you are on."

"Not necessarily so, Watson, with that type of thinking, you are following a line of reasoning that is oblivious to helpful information in front of you"

"Explain further, Holmes," I asked. "The point is this, A large percentage of the populous is interested in reading the details of local event that is unusual. Much information concerning the recent crime may not be important to police investigators, but may be interesting to readers."

"What does that include, for example?"

"In this case, Watson, information sought for release may be details such as where the body was found, the caliber of the gun, how many bullets were found, and what the victim was known to have done that day. Too often, Watson, a blanket over almost everything, when in fact, lesser restraints would provide adequate security for official investigation."

"But the police are often too busy with their own work to furnish the facts they think the newspaper or radio might want." "Very true, Watson, the police are as helpful as they are allowed to be. The heat of an investigation may not permit time for a briefing. But perhaps an arrangement to provide information to the media may be made at a latter, less inconvenient time for police officers."

Holmes removed his pipe and then continued his narration. "In any case, Watson, a 'yes' or 'no' reply to a question takes no longer than a 'no comment', and provides relatively small room for spectacular inferences created intentionally or unintentionally."

"Let me repeat again, Watson, a statement of mine recently quoted in your documentation entitled, A Scandal in Bohemia. 'It is a capital mistake to theorize before one has data. Insensibly one begins to twist facts to suit theories, instead of theories to suit facts.'"

Conflict of interest?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Should an appointed member of a major state agency be permitted to campaign for Congress without giving up his public job?

The question recurs around Ohio's capital this election year as a result of the candidacy of David C. Sweet, one of two Democrats on the three-member Public Utilities Commission, for the U.S. House in the state's 15th Congressional District.

Sweet, who was former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan's development director until December 1974, claims his candidacy represents no conflict, and that he's in the race to stay.

Gov. James A. Rhodes and other Republicans have called on Sweet to resign the commission post given him by Gilligan just before the later yielded the governor's office to Rhodes. The governor said Sweet should step down if for no other reason than to assure Ohioans that his decisions affecting the state's big utility corporations can't raise questions about possible campaign contributions.

Rhodes, as Sweet and others have pointed out, would be in a position to name Sweet's successor and tip control of the PUCO back to his own party. Commissioners named by the governor serve fixed terms, and may be removed only for cause.

Sweet, apparently in response to Rhodes' comments, filed with the Ohio Ethics Commission a campaign plan which he said will avoid any possible conflicts of interests.

He said he turned over his complete personal financial statement along with copies of his federal income tax returns dating back to 1971—the year he entered public service in Ohio.

Also as part of the package Sweet included was a statement saying he owns no stocks, bonds, or any financial interest in any corporation regulated by the commission. The statement pledged that he would not accept any campaign contributions from any employee or agent of a utility, and that anyone donating to his campaign would be required to sign a statement attesting that they are not an employee or agent of a utility.

Sweet said he also plans to prepare and file time sheets every two weeks indicating the number of hours he has spent on commission business, and that he plans to use the car furnished him by the commission on PUCO business only.

Sweet said his candidacy for the office now held by Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, will not force him to "serve two masters", as alleged by Rhodes. "I will remain on the commission during my candidacy, and, in doing so, will serve only one master, the people of Ohio," he said.

The commissioner's detractors, including Rhodes, as much as conceded there is nothing in Ohio law to prevent him from running. But they felt, they said, it was a matter of prudent judgment that suggests Sweet should resign or get out of the race.

Dear Abby:

Wife perplexed about yo-yo marriage

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you in desperation. After six years of marriage my husband just walked off and left me. I feel like my whole world is falling apart.

One day three months ago I came home and discovered that he had moved out, lock, stock and barrel. I nearly went out of my mind.

Two weeks later he called to say that he was living out of town and was involved with another woman, but that he didn't want a divorce.

He comes in town once a week to see me. We go out together and he supports me. (He's a musician.) He says he still loves me but he doesn't want to live with me or stop seeing me.

Abby, I don't want a once-a-week husband, but I don't want to lose him. My friends tell me that I'm a fool and that as long as I give him his freedom to come and go, he'll never come back to me permanently.

Should I give him an ultimatum? I still love him. Please tell me what to do.

OUT OF MY MIND

DEAR OUT: Do nothing in haste. The worst mistake a woman can make is to give her husband an ultimatum if she isn't ready to accept the consequences. If you still love him, hang in there, and in time you will know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: My boss thinks he's perfect. I've worked for him for 11 years and have always automatically corrected his mistakes without calling them to his attention.

Lately, whenever I make a mistake and he catches it, he will call my attention to it with scorn and derision. I dislike this. After all, if I did my work exactly as he instructed me, there would be literally 20 times the mistakes.

Would you advise me to point out all of his mistakes so that he would realize how many he makes?

SECRETARY

DEAR SECRET: No. Continue to correct his mistakes automatically and without comment—that's what you're being paid to do. However, do let him know that you resent the "scorn and derision."

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I both smoke. We have smoked for years and realize that we have set a bad example for our daughter, 14, but we can't quit now. We know for a fact that our daughter smokes, but we refuse to give her permission to smoke in our home.

To compound our problem, my mother-in-law (who also smokes) agrees with the child. She claims that we are wrong in making a "sneak" out of the child. She insists that we allow our daughter to smoke in front of us and has even given her cigarettes.

I disagree and am appalled by my mother-in-law's attitude. Is there a solution?

WITHHOLD OUR NAMES.

DEAR WITHHOLD: Your mother-in-law would have a perfect serpent in the garden of Eden. The obvious solution to your problem is for you and your wife to quit smoking. And for goodness' sake, as long as your daughter is a minor and you have anything to say about it, do not give her permission to smoke in your home-out of it!

Today In History

By The Associated Press

Today is Friday, April 2, the 93rd day of 1976. There are 273 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this date in 1917, President Woodrow Wilson asked Congress to declare war on Germany. He declared that the world must be made safe for democracy.

On this date— In 1792, Congress established the U.S. Mint.

In 1882, the outlaw, Jesse James, was shot and killed by a member of his gang in St. Joseph, Mo.

In 1932, Charles Lindbergh turned over $50,000 to an unidentified man in a Bronx, N.Y., cemetery as ransom for his kidnapped son.

In 1944, Soviet forces entered Romania during World War II.

In 1947, the United States assigned the United States as a trustee of Pacific islands formerly held by Japan under mandate.

Ten years ago: The worst blizzards in 20 years swept northern England, causing death and hardship.

Five years ago: U.S. unemployment climbed back to a rate of six per cent after a two-month decline.

One year ago: President Ford ruled out any American bombing to aid South Vietnam's collapsing armed forces.

Today's birthdays: Actor Alec Guinness is 62. Television actor and producer Jack Webb is 56.

Thought for today: War is little more than a catalogue of mistakes and misfortunes. — Sir Winston Churchill, 1874-1965.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, President John Hancock of the Continental Congress congratulated George Washington on the British evacuation of Boston, writing: "The patriotic principles which led you to the field, have also led you to glory."

Death and Burial of Abraham

Then Abraham gave up the ghost... And his sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah. —Genesis 25: 8-9

After Rebekah had given water to Abraham's servant, she brought him into her home to meet her family. They welcomed the stranger who explained his mission—to seek a wife for Isaac, his master's son. And Rebekah, he told them, was the answer to their prayers. Both the maid and her family agreed to the marriage, whereupon the servant brought forth lavish gifts of silver and gold for all. Then Rebekah, with her maidservants, set forth to Abraham's home, where she and Isaac were wed. Shortly after this, Sarah, the patriarch's wife, died and, though he was very old, he took another wife. Her name was Keturah, and she bore him six sons. At the age of 175, Abraham died, having made Isaac his sole heir. And Isaac and Ishmael, son of Hagar, buried him in a cave, next to Sarah.

Methodists honor member

The Bloomingburg United Methodist Church has set Sunday, April 4, 1976, as "Bill Purcell" Day. They will honor William J. Purcell, who served as church Treasurer and Financial Secretary for nearly forty-five years.

Banking and his church have been Purcell's primary interests during his lifetime. He graduated from Bloomingburg High School and shortly afterwards took a job with The Peoples Bank of Bloomingburg. Here he served until that institution became a casualty of the 1930's Depression. In 1934 he accepted a position with the Washington Savings Bank (now the Huntington Bank) and served that institution in several capacities including chief executive officer for a few months prior to his retirement in 1967.

The Day's activities include regular Sunday school at 10:00 a.m., and morning worship at 11:00 a.m. During worship services, special music will be provided by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Rex Bloomer and Mrs. Charles Duff, organist.

At 12:30 p.m. the church will have a "carry in" dinner for the members, families, and friends of the church.

An afternoon program will be held at 2:00 p.m. under the direction of Mr. Robert Hughes, chairman of the administrative board. The choir will offer additional music. Vocal solos by Mrs. Robert Moyer and Mrs. Mary Vincent, both of Wilmington will be given. Other singing presentations will be given by Miss Judy Messmer of Middletown and Miss Ann Cunningham, Kettering, a member of the church.

Former Pastors have been invited and several have indicated their intention of being present. They will have remarks appropriate to the occasion.

The afternoon activities will conclude with a reception for Purcell. His friends are cordially invited to attend.

Christian advice column says trust in God's mercy

Q. My husband is seeing another woman. I love him and don't want to give him up. How can I win him back?
A. The first thing you must do is face facts. It may be that you cannot win him back (you say you don't want to give him up, but you must realize he is not a possession for you to give). With this in mind, you can try to regain his love, not with negativism, but with a positive attitude. And a positive attitude of giving has been known to result in miracles.

I think it's important for you to realize you have an advantage over the woman your husband is seeing. Any relationship outside marriage is tinged with guilt. It has an unstable basis. But your marriage began in something good. Understandably you are bitter, but try to plant the seed of forgiveness. You can do this first by going back in memory to the time you fell in love. It will be a struggle for you to give first, but Jesus said, "Give (first) and it shall be given unto you" (Luke 6:38).

Stretch yourself to the limits of your patience and knowledge of human behavior. Don't get involved in destructive arguments and accusations that will do nothing but send your husband back to the woman he thinks "understands" him.

Good Hope revival slated

A week long revival, slated for April 4 through 11, will take place in the Good Hope United Methodist Church.

Beginning every night at 7:30, Rev. Howard Mayne, Albany, will be the featured evangelist. Special singing will also be provided.

Jeffersonville sets revival

The Pleasant View Church of Christ, Jeffersonville, has scheduled a revival meeting to take place at 7:30 p.m. April 9 through 11.

Special singing will be performed by the all female group, "Celebration," from the Cincinnati Bible College.

Mrs. Pierson's art works now on display at Fayette Center

Having sketched with pencil, and painted with watercolors since early childhood, oil painting is now Mrs. James (Evelyn) Pierson's first choice. Acrylics, pastels and watercolors are done for variance of techniques and fun. Some of her works are now on display at Fayette Center through May 1.

Lacking a formal education in art, she is mostly self-taught, but has studied under local teachers to learn more about the basics of different media. Observing and reading about the Old Masters techniques have also helped her. She works from live setups, photos, slides and sketches. Exhibits are mostly summer art shows around Cincinnati, and the Columbus areas, also fairs and bank showing. Her latest painting to date, is the mural at McDonald's Restaurant of the Court House at Washington C.H., painted in 1974.

Formerly of the Washington C.H. area, she now resides at 3963 Ohio Rt. 729, near Sabina, and is a member of the Leesburg Brush and Palette Art

MRS. JAMES PIERSON

Guild and the Ohio Arts and Crafts Guild.

Homemakers Club meets

The Concord Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Maurice Sollars for a noon carry-in luncheon. Miss Helen Perrill was the assisting hostess.

Mrs. Robert Case, president, conducted the business meeting which followed, and read "The Attic Mind," and "Spring Comes Back to the World." House cleaning hints were given in response to roll call.

Mrs. Maryon Mark, chairman, and Mrs. Ralph Theobald of the nominating committee, announced the following officers — Mrs. Kenneth Bush, president; Mrs. Maurice Sollars, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Edgar Wilson, news reporter; and Mrs. Walter Sollars, assistant reporter.

Miss Perrill's program topics were "What is a Friend?" and "No More Crank Calls."

Those present were Mrs. Jean Nisley, Mrs. Shepard, Mrs. Heber Deer, Mrs. Case, Mrs. Walter Sollars, Mrs. Carlton Belt, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Maryon Mark and the hostesses.

Mrs. Rose gets part in movie

Mrs. James E. Rose of Wilmington, formerly of Washington C.H., is branching into movies with her daughter, Eve Christopher. That is, she landed a speaking part in "Pipe Dream" for which her daughter was head auditor and which is coming out in about six months.

Grandson Charles and Mrs. Rose were extras in "All the President's Men," which was filmed in Washington, D.C. She's in the courtroom scene, very quick appearance she emphasizes.

Mrs. Rose has returned from a visit in the West. She went in January to Burbank, Calif., where daughter Eve Christopher lives, and while Miss Christopher went to Alaska where Pipe Dream was filmed Mrs. Rose stayed at home with Scott. Her daughter was in Alaska four weeks and when she returned she got her mother an audition for the movie and Mrs. Rose won it.

She returned to Wilmington by way of Dallas, Tex., where she visited their other daughter, Mrs. Sandy Davis, and her daughter, Jennifer.

Jeff DAR to present flag

The William Horney Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution of Jeffersonville, will present an American flag to the Pleasant View Church of Christ. The Ritenour family will also present a Christian flag to the church in memory of the late Kenneth Ritenour.

These flags will be presented at a dedication service at the church at 2:30 p.m. Sunday, April 4.

Members of the church, the chapter, and friends are cordially invited.

Altrusa Club meets for dinner-meeting

The Altrusa Club met at Washington Inn for a dinner-meeting Thursday evening. Following the opening Ritual, business reports were made and plans formulated to attend the District Workshop in Columbus, April 10. All reservations must be made by April 5 with Mrs. Will Braun.

PERSONALS

Houseguests this weekend of Mr. and Mrs. Phil Lewis of Broadway, are his parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Allen W. Lewis of Springfield, Mo., and his grandmother, Mrs. Nora Tobin of St. Louis, Mo. Mr. Phil Lewis is sports editor for The Record-Herald.

Mrs. Wilbur Horney of 810 S. Fayette St., will spend the next month visiting with her daughter, Mrs. Woodrow Shipley, in St. Petersburg, Fla.

Coffee hour precedes Circle I meet

Miss Jane Jefferson, Mrs. Paul Engle and Mrs. James Wilson were hostesses at the coffee hour which preceded in the meeting of Circle I of First Presbyterian Church Thursday morning. Mrs. Gerald Wheat's devotion theme was "Message of the Lily."

The Mission Interpretation was given by Mrs. Harvey Heironimus concerning "Spiritual and Physical Hunger."

It was announced that First Presbyterian Church in Washington C.H. was represented by 17 who attended the Scioto Valley Presbyterian in Lancaster on Wednesday. Mrs. Wheat gave a report of the meeting, concerning the "Parade of Christian History of Women's Work in the Church."

May 7 is May Fellowship Day to be held at the Good Hope United Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m. when Mrs. Wheat will present the program titled "Valiant Women."

Mrs. Loren Noble led the Bible study for the program concerning "Jephthah's Daughter, Woman of Mystery."

NH Lioness Club to feature 'market basket'

Members of the New Holland Lioness Club met recently for the March dinner-meeting at Wardell's Party Home near Circleville.

Mrs. Delbert Remy, club president, opened the meeting with the Pledge to the Flag and Mrs. Leslie Tarbill, club chaplain, gave the invocation.

The business meeting followed the bountiful dinner, when it was decided to have the "Market Basket" for the money-making project of the month.

Hostesses Mrs. William Friece and Mrs. Virgil Johnson conducted two contests, with prizes going to Mrs. James Landman and Mrs. Harold Wright. Mrs. Wesley Ruth won the door prize.

Next month's hostesses will be Mrs. Landman and Mrs. Larry McFadden, when the "Market Basket" proceeds will be revealed.

The February meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Robert Bush, with Mrs. Remy the assisting hostess. Following the luncheon, the group enjoyed an evening of bingo, and prizes were awarded.

MINI-POUND CAKE

- Sour cream version popular in North Carolina.
  - 1 1/2 cups sifted flour
  - 1/4 teaspoon baking soda
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt
  - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
  - 1/2 teaspoon mace
  - 1/2 cup butter or margarine
  - 1 1/2 cups sugar
  - 1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind
  - 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
  - 3 eggs, separated
  - 1/2 cup commercial sour cream
- Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, nutmeg and mace. Cream butter, 1 cup of the sugar, lemon rind and vanilla; beat in egg yolks, then sour cream. Fold in flour mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in remaining sugar until very stiff; fold into batter. Turn into a greased and floured 6-cup fluted tube (bundt-style) pan. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 1 hour. Loosen edges and around tube; turn out on a wire rack to cool.

SATURDAY REFRESHER

TAWNY FROSTING

- 2-3rds cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
- 1/4 teaspoon salt
- 1-3rd cup water
- 1 pound confectioners' sugar
- 1/4 cup butter or margarine, softened

In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan over high heat stir together the brown sugar, salt and water until mixture comes to a full rolling boil; remove from heat and cool until bottom of pan feels lukewarm — about 10 minutes. In a medium mixing bowl stir the syrup into the confectioners' sugar; add butter and beat until soft and smooth. Use as a very heavy and sweet covering for Poppysseed Cake baked in a 10-inch angelcake pan. The flavor of the frosting may remind you of Penuche but is not so full-bodied.

Tennis Togs

BY JOAN O'SULLIVAN

"KEEP IT SIMPLE" is the fashion philosophy of Phyllis Keitlen of Tric-Trac, Ltd. who, like many young designers, steers clear of fussy fashions. She likes easy styling—she's trying to make the T-shirt a classic—and either bright colors, such as red, orange and green, or neutrals, including tobacco, ecru, and white.

"The neutrals seem to be the most popular for year-round best-selling," she observes.

As for T-shirts, she teams them with everything from pants to skirts that pull over, wrap, snap and tie. "The shirts are sexy and practical," she says.

Her favorite fabric is cotton. "Women are beginning to dress more realistically so cotton knits make sense," she believes. "I like the purity of cotton."

Phyllis, daughter of a Springfield, Mass., doctor, was seeing the world a few years ago—New York and London for the social life, St. Moritz for winter sports, Marbella and St. Tropez for summer. Travel plus a variety of interests, including flying, the theater, and art, broadened her horizon and led her into fashion.

Varied Career

She began coordinating and producing designer fashion shows and writing about fashion for international magazines. Later, she served as fashion consultant to designers, including Scott Barrie and Valentino. She worked for Coty Award-winners Alexis Kirk and Giorgio Sant'Angelo, too. One of her more glamorous assignments was in Hollywood, where she was social secretary to Omar Sharif. This led her to a similar post in New York with the consul general of Morocco. Enticed into visiting Morocco, she was intrigued with the marvelous handicraft there. This gave her the idea of starting her own fashion firm, Tric-Trac, Ltd.

Imported cotton knits are the specialty of the house. Phyllis uses them for everything from T-shirts in every style and color to plain as well as exotic caftans.

She designs the entire collection herself but has contracted with Betsey Johnson to produce a small "collection within a collection" for her.

Where is she headed? Phyllis says the world is her oyster. Her future plans include lots of travel in search of exotic ideas she can translate into fashions for the American woman.

Oversight corrected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House voted 91-2 Thursday to correct an oversight that apparently permits shock probation after a month's incarceration for felons such as murderers, rapists and others convicted of serious crimes.

Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, asked the House to close the loophole as a result of a Feb. 15 Ohio Supreme Court decision holding that shock probation is permissible under present law.

Truck strike impact coming

By The Associated Press

Spokesmen for all four domestic auto makers say they face possible plant shutdowns next week as the impact of the first nationwide Teamsters strike begins to be felt.

There were no reports, however, of immediate food or fuel shortages in the second day of the walkout.

In Pittsburgh, steel industry spokesmen said production was continuing without interruption, but predicted problems in meeting customer demands if the strike continues.

The U.S. Department of Transportation said Thursday that a week-long strike would idle one million workers and result in a loss to the economy of up to $300 million.

Federal officials also said there would be "considerable consumer difficulties" if the strike lasts as long as two weeks. They projected curtailed food and gasoline supplies, since these products are heavily dependent on trucks for delivery.

The immediate impact of the strike by 400,000 Teamsters truck drivers and warehousemen was lessened because individual companies signed interim contracts with Teamster locals to keep their goods moving.

In addition, the nation's 100,000 independent truckers were reported to have little sympathy for the Teamsters strike and many kept their trucks on the road. The independents called a national strike in February 1974 to protest fuel costs, but failed to get support of the Teamsters.

A General Motors Corp. spokesman said that if the strike goes on GM will have to start closing plants early next week. He said the closings would be on a day-to-day basis, determined by the amount of parts in stock.

Richard Haupt, director of transportation and traffic at Ford Motor Co., said that within a week the Teamsters strike "could completely halt production of the company's cars and trucks in the U.S."

In Atlanta, a Ford assembly plant

employing about 2,500 workers was scheduled to shut down after its last shift today. Six GM plants in the Buffalo, N.Y., area were reported running low on parts and materials.

An American Motors Corp. spokesman said if the strike continues the firm would "really be in trouble" next week.

A Chrysler Corp. spokesman said that firm, too, would begin production cutbacks next week if the strike lasts.

The strike does not affect the delivery of new cars to dealers, since auto transport drivers are covered under a separate agreement.

Large manufacturing plants also faced the prospect of shutdowns within a few days. The manager of the Birmingham, Ala., plant of International Harvester said a "strike continuing more than a few days would cause ... large manpower reductions." The plant employs 2,750 persons.

New OIC member also chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Attorney William Johnston was selected as chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission on Thursday, the same day his appointment as a commission member became effective.

The commission unanimously named Johnston as chairman nine hours after his appointment became effective. Gov. James A. Rhodes announced the naming Wednesday, effective the next day.

He took over for Marguerite M. Neal, a Democrat who was appointed in July 1973 by a former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan. She resigned to take a job as deputy director of the Department of Industrial Relations.

Johnston, 30, will receive $25,800 annually as chairman. His term expires June 30, 1979.

Johnston, a Republican, replaced Gregory Stebbins as chairman. Stebbins, a Democrat, was fired by Gov. James A. Rhodes earlier this year but reinstated by a federal judge as a commissioner.

The third member of the commission is Raymond Connor, appointed by Rhodes last year.

When Stebbins was fired by Rhodes in January, the governor accused him of "inefficiency in office, neglect of duty, misfeasance, malfeasance and nonfeasance."

Stebbins was appointed in 1972 by Gilligan. Gilligan has confirmed that in late 1974 he prepared—but never followed through on—an order suspending Stebbins from his post on charges similar to those specified by Rhodes.

Writing by inmates approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reversing a tradition of censorship, the federal prison system is freeing inmate writers and artists to publish works dealing with prison life or any other subject they wish.

Norman A. Carlson, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, has issued an order repealing censorship rules and declaring that it now is bureau policy "to encourage inmates to use

'John Glenn' aids Ford campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John H. Glenn became a leader in President Ford's Ohio election campaign Thursday, but it was news to the Democratic U.S. senator.

The President Ford Committee-Ohio announced that Glenn, a regional sales manager for a milk company in Ohio, will serve as Defiance County chairman of the Ford Committee.

Glenn is no relation to Sen. John H. Glenn Jr., D-Ohio, who is scheduled to deliver the keynote address at the Democratic National Convention.

A spokesman for the Ford campaign said there was no significance to the date of the announcement—April Fools Day.

their leisure time for creative writing."

The change was part of a "new trend that the inmate should be permitted to keep up his contacts with his family and the community," bureau spokesman Michael Aun said in response to questions Wednesday.

Besides, he added, "we're just too busy to be censoring manuscripts. It's just not feasible today."

Carlson's action repealed regulations imposed in 1974 prohibiting inmates from attempting to publish material about their own lives or criminal careers, prison conditions and prison employees.

"He couldn't write about those matters he was most competent to write about," Aun observed.

The 1974 rules also required an inmate to get approval from prison officials before attempting to write for publication. The inmate was required to submit an outline of his proposed book or article, and the warden had the power to disapprove it.

The inmate could not submit the manuscript to a publisher, or discuss it with an editor, publisher or literary agent, without submitting it to the warden for censorship. Manuscripts rejected by the warden were confiscated and not returned to the inmate until he left prison.

A LITTLE MORE ROOM — Warner's Sports store has moved a few doors down the block where there is a little more room for the display of sporting goods. Warner's now occupies what was formerly the Lord's clothing store.

Warner's store opens doors in new downtown location

After having spent a year at 233 E. Court Street, Jack Warner, manager of Warner's Sports store has moved.

During the past week, he has been in the process of moving the store to larger quarters just a few doors away from the former location. Warner's now occupies the building which was once Lord's clothing store, 221 E. Court Street.

Prompted by a desire to "stock more and service people better" Warner opened the new facility Thursday. The new store is air-conditioned and has a much larger floor space. Displays will be less crowded and Warner has added a footwear department. In addition to sports shoes, Warner will carry men's dress shoes.

The entire basement area of the store will be used as an office and storage area. One of the store's most important services, custom lettering for jackets, shirts and uniforms may also be located on the lower floor.

Warner's carries all major lines of sporting goods, including MacGregor, Wilson and Spalding.

March of Dimes sets walk-a-thon

Super Walk '76, the March of Dimes second annual 20-mile walk-a-thon, is scheduled for May 15, originating at Eymann Park at 8:00 a.m.

The Washington C.H. Super Walk is a charitable fund-raising event made up of individuals and organization who walk a designated route, and are sponsored a specific amount of money for each mile they complete. Anyone can be a sponsor, including friends, relatives, businessmen and organizations.

A March of Dimes spokesman described the super walk as a total community effort. Last year the super walk attracted some 250 participants statewide although the actual number decreased the day of the event because of the weather. Last year, the Walk-A-thon made $3,200. Aside from the participants, there were another 30 volunteers handling the organization and planning.

Statistics indicate that over 200,000 children are born with physical or mental damage each year. Every hour 24 children are born in this country with birth defects. Monies raised from this event are spent in the central Ohio area to aid in the prevention of birth defects.

This year Super Walk '76 hopes to attract almost 1,000 walkers. There's no limit as to the participants in the event, and everyone is eligible. Walkers can obtain sponsor forms from the Washington Senior High or Miami Trace student councils, or by calling 486-8982, a 24-hour service.

As an added incentive, the March of Dimes will again award $250 health scholarships to the two high schools in the State with the greatest per cent per-capita participation and the greatest per-capita dollar raised.

Two $100 science department scholarships will also be awarded to junior high schools based on the same criteria.

Fort Finney was built in 1785 at the mouth of the Great Miami River in Ohio for a conference with the Indians, by Gen. George Rogers Clark. It was named for the leader of the troops who did the work.

City strike spreading in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The municipal bus system, which carries 250,000 persons daily, recreation facilities and most public works departments were shut down today for the second day by several thousand striking city employees.

Labor leaders said picketing would spread today to two city-county hospitals. Four locals of the Service Employees International Union (SEIU), representing about 9,000 hospital, custodial, clerical and social workers, pledged to honor the picket lines.

But the SEIU itself didn't join the strike, and that news buoyed City Hall hopes of avoiding a general walkout.

Mayor George Moscone said an agreement with the union will mean at least a continuation of nursing and emergency services at the hospitals regardless of picket lines. However, 1,800 of the city's 2,500 hospital workers could honor them.

Union leaders and the city's Board of Supervisors met separately Wednesday night to map strike strategy and possible solutions.

The strike began Wednesday night, 1,900 machinists, plumbers, electricians and others walked off their jobs over proposed cuts in pay. About 3,100 other city employees, including bus drivers, either refused to cross picket lines or stayed home in support of the strikers.

The strike played a hardship on thousands of the city's 677,000 residents who rely on buses to commute downtown to work. The city, anticipating a crush of private automobiles, suspended parking meter fines.

Thousands of high school students, who also ride buses to campus, did not report to class. Attendance in the lower grades, however, was about normal.

Archie Griffin joins reading skills program

COLUMBUS — Two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin will be touring Ohio schools this spring to involve students in a new reading program being organized by the Ohio Department of Education, superintendent of public instruction Martin W. Essex announced today.

Griffin said he accepted the assignment "because I like young people and want to dedicate my life to them. I want those who now are interested only in athletics to realize that reading is basic to their success in any field."

"We are pleased to have Archie assist us in our efforts," Essex said. "He will be a strong ally in impressing upon students who have grown up in a television dominated era the importance of reading as a solid base for academic achievement and personal advancement."

Through the program, which has been named "All-America Readers," fifth grade through junior high school students will receive recognition and awards for doing special reading assignments.

Griffin will visit selected schools to explain the program to students, teachers, and school administrators. His tour begins in the Springfield City School District.

Essex said the idea of arranging another force to motivate Ohio youngsters to recognize the importance of reading skills came from Mrs. Virginia Lloyd Kunkle, who has headed Ohio's nationally acclaimed All-America Read Program.

To become an "All-America Reader," a pupil must become a member of the team by reading a minimum of five books or their equivalent. A certificate of membership on the All-America Reading Team will be presented. An iron-on symbol will be presented for every five readings thereafter. One hundred readings entitles a student to a touchdown award.

When 95 percent of the eligible students in a building read at least five books, the building will receive an All-America building award.

It is anticipated that school districts will use the "All-America Reading" concept to develop their own incentives for reading, possibly by instituting a Hall of Fame for readers who have the most touchdowns, or by creating competition among buildings.

In addition to the Heisman, Griffin was honored this year by the National Collegiate Athletic Association as one of the top five scholar-athletes in the country. The award is granted annually to those who have demonstrated outstanding scholastic achievement and civic involvement as well as athletic ability.

Griffin, 21, who has graduated one quarter ahead of his class, holds a bachelor of science degree from The Ohio State University College of Administrative Sciences.

Mead names new manager

Mead Containers has announced the promotion of Ralph E. Dolan to district manufacturing manager at the Washington C.H. plant.

The 32-year-old native Georgian assumed the post last month. He had served as operations manager at the Covington, Ga., plant before moving to Washington C.H. He is responsible for the plant's manufacturing process.

Dolan joined Mead Containers in 1964 and worked his way up through the ranks to his present managerial position. His previous duties with Mead have included a number of manufacturing and administrative responsibilities in Atlanta and Miami, Fla.

He and his wife Katy along with their 13-month-old daughter, Sophie, reside at 233 Kathryn Court.

The Music Teachers' National Association was founded at Delaware, Ohio, in 1876.

Army to close many U. S. bases

By FRED S. HOFFMAN

AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army said today it plans to close or impose reductions at 29 forts and other bases in a move to cut non-essential overhead and save at least $42 million.

The actions would result in elimination of 4,500 civilian jobs and transfer of 13,128 servicemen and civilian workers.

The affected bases, ranging from forts to small district recruiting headquarters, are located in 17 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

The Army plan is conditional largely on the outcome of studies assessing the impact of the moves on the environment and factors such as employment, schools and housing. The studies are required by law and will take up to nine months.

Counting cutback plans announced by the Air Force and Navy last month, the new Army actions bring the total of affected bases to 160, the number of jobs to be reduced to 22,000 and the claimed annual savings to about $248 million.

Sixteen of the 29 bases or forts would be closed. They include: Ft. Hamilton and Ft. Totten, N.Y.; Ft. MacArthur, Los Angeles; Ft. Buchanan, Puerto Rico; the Savanna Army Depot, Ill.; the Jefferson Proving Ground, Ind.; Arlington Hall Station, Va.; Vint Hill Farms Research Station, Va.; and family housing at Schilling Manor, Kan., and seven district recruiting headquarters.

The most heavily affected base is Ft. Devens, Mass., which would lose 4,372 military personnel and 846 civilian jobs with the planned transfer of the Army Security Agency Training Center, a special forces group, an engineer battalion and other troop units elsewhere. Ft. Devens would be left only with a reserve training mission.

Next hardest hit would be the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., which would lose 1,578 military and 741 civilian positions with the shift of an ordnance school to Redstone Arsenal, Ala., and relocation of some other activities to Ft. Eustis, Va.

In a separate action not related to the base cutbacks, the Army announced it wants to set up headquarters of a new electronics research and development command in the Washington area, which would mean removing some activities from Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

Another proposed reorganization, the Army said, would involve establishing headquarters of a new Army aviation research and development command in St. Louis.

County bicentennial meeting

The Fayette County Bicentennial Committee held its weekly meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office.

A guest at the assembly was Joe Weikert from the John Moore Entertainment Agency in Columbus. Weikert was present to promote a 30-minute bicentennial musical which has been performed in several cities and counties in Ohio.

Weikert asked the committee to consider having the musical as a fund-raising project for Fayette County bicentennial projects. The request is being reviewed by the committee.

Mrs. Betty Brubaker, activities chairman, stated that she has received a request for assistance by the Homer Lawson American Legion Post in their attempts to obtain Revolutionary War costumes.

Mrs. Willard Bitzer, a spokesman for several organizations, announced that the Ohio Daughters of the American Revolution will be making an upcoming tour of the old Northwest Territory region on the Delta Queen steamboat.

Mrs. Bitzer also informed the committee that the garden council is holding contests for the best floral decorations around mailboxes in the county. Those interested in entering the contests should contact Mrs. Edmund Thompson. The deadline is May 30. Prizes will be awarded on July 4.

Representing the Browning Club, Mrs. Bitzer stated that the club has been conducting a survey on the outstanding women of Fayette County's past.

The public is always invited to attend and contribute to the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee's meetings. They are held every Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, 131 S. Main Street.

No clemency for murderer?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "Our family's feelings haven't changed. We never want Brown out," the brother of a murder victim told the State Clemency Board Wednesday.

George R. Brown, 44, serving a life sentence in the rape-slaying of an East Gary beautician, petitioned the board. He also confessed killing Lana Brock, 16, New Chicago.

Her brother, Gene Brock, appeared before the board. "If he were ever let out, I don't know what I'd do," Brock said. "I might go after him."

Brown asked the governor to commute his life term to an indeterminate sentence, making him eligible for parole. Gov. Otis R. Bowen turned down a similar request last year.

Trucker fired on in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — What police called "vigilante-group types" fired on one trucker in Cleveland early today as hundreds of northeastern Ohio drivers joined the Teamsters Union's first nationwide strike.

Police said two slugs struck the cab of Paul Allen, 37, of Marilla, N.Y., as he drove his tractor-trailer rig through Cleveland. Allen was uninjured.

In nearby Akron, where a Teamsters Local 24 official said 2,900 of the local's 3,800 members were off the road, picket lines shut down Roadway, Consolidated Freight and PIE terminals and congregated by the score on what's known as "the strip," a truck stop area in suburban Richfield.

Beer trucks were running, their drivers operating under a contract separate from that toward which national negotiations continued in Chicago after the midnight expiration of the old pact.

United Parcel Service, Kroger's and Acme trucks also continued operation this morning in Akron.

In Newburgh Heights near Cleveland, police began escorting truckers along Interstate 71 after reports that a number of cars were driving beside the haulers, trying to force them to stop and waving weapons in a threatening fashion.

Picket lines at Cleveland's Hopkins International Airport halted air cargo movement from the airport as local delivery drivers honored their colleagues' strike.

And pickets marched outside at least 10 Cleveland area trucking firms with more expected as returning drivers joined the strike.

Claim Findlay spending illegal

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Hancock County had an April 1 surprise for the city.

Edward Hugus, the county auditor, told the city it can't spend any money because officials submitted the 1976 appropriation ordinance on improper forms.

But city Auditor Harold Smith said the ordinance was submitted on the same forms he's always used. He charged Hugus with unfair tactics in the ruling.

MT cindermen rout Blue Lions

Record-Herald Sports Editor

Miami Trace Coach Bill Beatty got his seconds Thursday, not to mention his firsts and thirds, as his Panther track team breezed by Washington C.H. in a cold and damp cinder match-up.

"They're coming along," Beatty said after the Panthers' 90½ to 36½ thumping of the Blue Lions. "When you start getting second places your tough to beat."

Miami Trace was tough. The Panthers took 10 of the 15 first-place finishes which is not all that dominating. But, they wrapped up all but two of the second-place finishes. And in those two events they didn't place second, they took both first and third.

The Panther depth was just too much for Coach Rick Crooks' Blue Lion tracksters who made one of their rare appearances in Fayette County this season. They have scheduled no home meets due to the poor condition of the Gardner Park track.

There was only one double winner in the meet. Panther sophomore Ralph Fast swept the weight events with wins in the shot put and the discus.

The Blue Lions did better in the field events Thursday than in their season opening meet with Circleville when they failed to pick up a point.

Mark Forsythe leaped 19'2" on his first jump in the long jump and passed up his final two tries to post an easy win in that event. Pole vaulter Jim Runnels cleared 11'0" to give the Blue Lions another first, but the Panthers swept all three spots in the discus and the high jump to take an early lead.

Dan Gifford cleared 6'0" in the high jump which is far below his record-breaking mark Tuesday. However, all three Panther leapers, Gifford, Art Schlichter and Glenn Cobb, jumped below their season bests. The Blue Lions were without a jumper due to an injury to Dewey Foster and the Panthers were able to just "go through the motions."

Tim Dove opened up the running events for the Blue Lions with a win in the high hurdles, but it was mostly Panthers the rest of the way.

Greg Cobb sprinted to his best time of the year to win the 100-yard dash edging out Joe Cox of Washington C.H. by a tenth of a second. Dean Faris surprisingly took third in the event for the Panthers. It was his first meet having missed the first two Panther starts because of illness. Coach Beatty said he just inserted Faris to get him loosened up, but the Panther junior finished strong with a 10.9 clocking.

Terry Rodgers and Bill Hanners teamed up to dominate the half-mile and the mile run. Rodgers won the mile with a 4:58.3 clocking and Hanners placed second at five minutes flat in his first attempt at the event.

Cox won the 220 for the Blue Lions and Bill Warnock led a Panther sweep in the quarter mile to finish up the sprints. Bill Ooten took the long race, the two mile, for the Panthers.

The two teams split the relay races with the Blue Lions easily winning the half mile and the Panthers finishing up the meet with a win in the mile.

The Panthers, who are now 2-0 in dual meets this season, will take to the cinders Saturday at Chillicothe. The meet will be relays only and powerful Circleville will join the Panthers and Cavaliers in the four-team meet. A team from Michigan, which travels to Florida and back during spring break competing in high school track meets along the way, is also expected to be there.

The Blue Lions are idle until Tuesday when they visit Wilmington for a dual contest.

Jack worried by success

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jack Billingham, having his best spring ever, is worried. The Cincinnati Reds pitcher said he always has at least one lapse and is afraid it will happen this year after the season starts.

Billingham has not walked a single batter in 12 innings this spring and allowed the Chicago White Sox only a run on four hits while striking out four in six innings Thursday.

The Reds won 3-2 and now have a spring record of 5-4. The White Sox are 5-8. The clubs meet again today at Sarasota.

"I've been out three times," said Billingham. "I have one more outing. Usually you go out seven or eight times in spring training to get ready."

"Four times is not enough. We need a longer spring. Every spring I always have a tired period when my arm feels heavy. I haven't had that at all.

"I just hope it doesn't come two weeks into the season. That's why today when I finished pitching on the mound I went to the bullpen and threw about 30 extra pitches. I wanted to get as tired as I could."

Manager Sparky Anderson said "Billingham pitched very good but he was lazy on a couple of pitches. Larry Shepard—pitching coach—was upset with him and wanted to show him what he was doing wrong."

The Reds jumped on knuckleballer Wilbur Wood for three runs in the first inning but he held them scoreless for the next five innings.

Wood walked Pete Rose, the first man up. Ken Griffey singled and Joe Morgan and George Foster hit run scoring singles.

The White Sox got a run in the fifth when Bucky Dent hit into a double play, scoring Cleon Jones who had doubled.

Chicago scored again in the ninth on errors by second baseman Morgan and Doug Flynn at shortstop. Jorge Orta singled, went to second on Buddy Bradford's single and came home on the second error.

Billingham spaced four hits and struck out four, walking none going the six innings, longest of any Cincinnati pitcher this spring.

Wood gave up only three more hits and no runs after the first inning.

Pair tied in Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Som "pot luck" iron shots, a brand-new putter and some wet, shivering pickets were the first-round features in the $230,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"The fairways were so muddy you were just playing pot luck out there,"

said big Jimmy Wiechers, who survived his difficulties Thursday with a five-under-par 66 that gave him a tie for the lead with old pro Gay Brewer.

Brewer, using a new putter in competition for the first time, got his share of first place late in the cold, windy, cloudy, occasionally drizzly day with eagles on two of his last four holes.

Included in their galleries — in the dismal weather that has become a fixture at this old tournament — were some shivering, placard-carrying NBC technicians who are on strike and were picketing the cameras that are scheduled to provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. The show will go on, NBC officials said.

"I'm playing as good as I've ever played," insisted the slump-ridden, 44-year-old Brewer. "It's my putting and chipping that has held me back."

So the gray-haired veteran, winner of 11 titles in a 20-year career, took the last two weeks off, went home to Palm Springs, Calif., and worked on his short game.

He finally settled on a new model of an old standard club, brought it to Greensboro and, using it in competition for the first time, one-putted half the greens and holed five putts in the 20-25 foot range.

Two of those were for the eagles that vaulted him past 19 players.

They shared a one-stroke advantage over Dave Stockton, U.S. Open champ Lou Graham and Bob Payne, tied at 67.

The group at 68, three under par on the wet, hilly, 6,643-yard Sedgely Country Club course, were Lee Trevino, Kermit Zarley, Don Bies, DeWitt Weaver, Miller Barber and Allen Miller.

Defending champion Tom Weiskopf headed a large group at 69. Gary Player shot a 72 and 63-year-old Sam Snead, an eight-time winner of this tournament, was at 73.

Jack Nicklaus, Hubert Green, Hale Irwin, Tom Watson, Johnny Miller and Ben Crenshaw skipped this event in favor of practice for next week's Masters, the first of the year's four major championships.

Sports briefs

Griffin replacement on Woody's mind

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A search for a replacement for Archie Griffin and overall team speed will be the top priorities for Woody Hayes when he launches his 26th Ohio State football coaching season Saturday with the opening of spring practice.

"Think of some of the speed we lost from last year," said Hayes. "We've still got some speed, but we're going to work on speed all spring."

Bo Schembechler tested at hospital

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler was still undergoing diagnostic tests Thursday and was to be hospitalized at least another three or four days, officials at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital said.

Doctors said the coach was listed in satisfactory condition after being admitted to the hospital Tuesday with a temperature of 101 degrees and some discomfort in his chest.

Race to Knight wins Lebanon race

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Race to Knight breezed to a seven-length victory in the featured conditioned pace at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night.

The winner went the mile in 2:08 to return $16.00, $9.20 and $4.00. Right and Ready paid $4.00 and $3.00. Miss Holly Sue was the show horse at $3.80.

Vital Flame wins feature at Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Vital Flame, a 4-5 favorite, claimed a wire-to-wire victory, winning by a length in the $3,600 feature allowance at Latonia Thursday night.

The winner went the mile in 1:40 3-5 to return $3.60, $3.00 and $2.40. Notsolaka paid $5.20 and $3.00. The show horse was Red Pipe at $2.80.

Blue Lions blast London in opener

Washington C.H. finally got its baseball season underway Thursday after suffering through two rainouts. The Blue Lions were more than ready, however, as they completely dominated London High School, 18-1, in a darkness-shortened, five-inning home game.

Washington C.H. under first-year coach Dwight Garrett pointed out 10 hits and made good use of 11 walks in the run-away victory.

Capping the strong offensive show at the plate for the Blue Lions was veteran second-baseman Mark Fisher, who blasted a two-run homer. He had three of the Lions' 11 runs batted in. Dee Foster led Court House with four RBI's.

Garrett has a strong nucleus back from last year's Blue Lion squad. Randy Sparkman, an all-league selection last year, heads the list.

Other starters back from Coach Rodger Mickle's 1975 team are Fisher, Scott Johnson, David Thompson and Randy Gardner.

The Blue Lions will open league play Friday afternoon at home against Greenfield McClain.

LOOKING HOME — Washington C.H.'s Mark Fisher goes into third standing up Thursday in the Blue Lions season opener against London. The Blue Lions won the contest handsily.

Kuhn studies expansion to Toronto

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn — caught in the middle of a battle that now involves two countries, both pro leagues and some of the United States' most influential politicians — still is looking for a comfortable seat on the Toronto expansion time bomb.

Kuhn set the incendiary mechanism at seven days by announcing Thursday that the American League may expand to "Canada's commercial capital if, before that period expires, the league can provide "suitable provision for Washington." If it does not, he said, "I will consider the application of the National League" for a 1977 franchise.

The commissioner did not define what a "suitable provision" would be and said he did not expect an enthusiastic response to his ruling.

In a seven-paragraph prepared statement that outlined his position, Kuhn admitted that "this decision may well be disappointing in whole or in part to all of the parties and communities involved."

No one agreed more readily than AL President Lee MacPhail, whose opinion was that "any attempt by the Commissioner to interfere is neither just nor fair."

But there are things MacPhail and his owners may have overlooked in making the statement, such as the fact that "during the past week political and civic leaders in Washington have urged me to take the necessary steps to return baseball to the Nation's Capital. These leaders include President Ford" according to Kuch.

The WEEDERS GUIDE

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Adhesives — and wood —
may help solve some of the world's timber, oil, inflation
and housing demand problems.

A recent U.S. Forest Products Laboratory Symposium on
"Adhesives for Products from Wood" at Madison, Wis., drew
100 persons to listen to papers
from this country, Germany,
Canada, New Zealand and
South Africa.

As a laboratory spokesman put it, adhesives may be as vital to your future as the nail
was to that rider who long ago lost his horse because it threw a shoe.

First, timber. The demand for wood products is expected to grow rapidly by the end of the century. One solution is to grow more trees, but trees planted today will hardly be ready for harvest by the year 2000. The alternative is to make better use of available wood and here is where adhesives enter.

Laboratory researchers are looking for economical ways to get more products from harvested trees. Adhesives can help.

One way is through using re-sins — wood left in the forest
after harvesting. At present, forest residues amount to about 9.6 billion cubic feet a year, almost three-fourths as much wood as is used for products
annually, the laboratory estimated. Included are limbs, tree tops, broken logs.

These residues, impractical
for use as lumber or veneer,
may become valuable as a raw material for production of par-oil products.

Museum to open weekends

A new time schedule during which the Fayette County Historical Society Museum will be open to the public has been announced.

Additional staffing by trustee members now permits the museum to open its doors from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Visitors will be personally conducted through 14 rooms of exhibits, with historical information provided by the guides.

New exhibits have been added since the museum's closing last fall, and group tours have already been scheduled for April and May.

Large groups desiring to visit the former mansion are requested to contact the curator, B.E. Kelley, for weekday appointments.

Admission charges are $1 for adults, and 25 cents for students. Children under 10, when accompanied by an adult, are admitted free.

Those visitors making use of the museum's parking facilities are asked to park as close as possible to the coach house to allow room for cars arriving later.

All Fayette County Historical Society members will be admitted to the museum without charge.

THURSDAY — Patricia L. Jackson, 28, of Jeffersonville, failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead; Donald Ward, 19, U.S. 22, Jasper-Mill Rd., driving under suspension.

Two injured in rear-end auto collision

Two people showed visible signs of injury after a Thursday morning accident in which a Jeffersonville woman was later cited by Washington C.H. police officers for failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Donald R. Matthews, 23, of 1539 U.S. 35, was slowing for traffic on North Street, just north of Rose Avenue, when he was struck by a car driven by Patricia L. Jackson, 28, of Jeffersonville, which had apparently failed to maintain an assured clear distance.

Two passengers in the Jackson vehicle showed visible signs of injury from the 10:47 a.m. accident. Melissa Jackson, 3, of Jeffersonville, and her sister Michelle, 4, were not treated at the hospital. Both cars in the mishap received moderate damage.

Death penalty arguments pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is the death penalty legalized butchery that should be abolished or is it a constitutional form of punishment that states must have to stem a rising number of murders?

That's the decision the Supreme Court faces after two days of hearings in which lawyers pleaded for the lives of condemned clients, while states and the Ford administration argued that the death penalty is constitutional and each state should decide its own need for capital punishment.

The court took the question under advisement Wednesday and is expected to decide the issue in June. The nine justices have a wide variety of possible decisions, ranging from an outright ban on the death penalty to giving states even broader powers to impose it.

Anthony G. Amsterdam, a professor at the Stanford University Law School, told the court the death penalty is "an atavistic butchery which has run its course."

But Solicitor Gen. Robert H. Bork, representing the U.S. government as a "friend of the court," said the penalty should remain "for the deterrence of crime and the expression of moral outrage."

In addition to upholding capital punishment, Bork said, the court should free the states from restrictions imposed when the high court limited

the use of capital punishment in a 1972 ruling.

Bork received support from Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., who voted with the minority in 1972 to support broad use of the death penalty. Powell appeared incredulous at Amsterdam's contention that there should be no death penalty on the books, suggesting that "society must have some effective alternative."

Powell said the U.S. murder rate had climbed 42 per cent since 1968, adding that the 19,000 persons slain in 1973 meant there were more Americans killed in this country in a year "than on the battlefields of Vietnam" during any single year of the war in Southeast Asia.

Lebanese truce effective today

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The 20th cease-fire in the 11-month-old Lebanese civil war took effect at noon today. Only scattered small-arms fire was reported in Beirut and nearby mountain resort towns that have been the scene of hard fighting in the past two weeks.

The truce was to last 10 days. A Syrian blueprint called for Christian President Suleiman Franjeh to resign during that period, opening the way for political reforms to increase the political and economic power of the country's Moslem majority.

Spokesmen for the warring leftist Moslems and right-wing Christians said their young street fighters were generally observing the cease-fire. They reported only minor violations. Palestine guerrilla chief Yasir Arafat told all guerrilla groups to help enforce the shutdown.

Franjeh sent no word that he would resign. But the Syrian government, which pressured leftist warlord Kamal Junblatt into accepting the cease-fire with a threat of military intervention, publicly guaranteed that the 65-year-old president would quit as soon as a new president was elected.

Franjeh was bombed out of the presidential palace east of Beirut by Junblatt's forces March 25. His temporary headquarters in the Christian port of Jounieh 12 miles north of Beirut would not say officially whether he would quit. But some aides said he would stay on even if a new president were elected.

The 99-member parliament was scheduled to meet Monday to adopt a constitutional amendment ending Franjeh's term immediately and permitting election of a new president. Another session was tentatively set for Thursday for the election.

Christians still have a 6-5 majority in parliament and presumably will choose another Christian president. But Junblatt reportedly has agreed to this despite his insistence that the religious basis to Lebanon's political system must be abolished, and majority — meaning Moslem — rule must prevail. When the French freed Lebanon after World War II, the Christians were in the majority and a political system was adopted giving them the presidency and dominance in parliament, the civil service, the armed forces and ultimately the economy.

Now the Moslems are in the majority, and for 11 months they have been fighting for more power. Syria proposed after the last cease-fire in March a 50-50 division between the Moslems and Christians, but Junblatt seized the military initiative and has been demanding Moslem control as a prelude to conversion of the free-enterprise economy to socialism.

"We now want a quick transition from sectarianism to a modern secular system," Junblatt told reporters after agreeing to the new cease-fire, the 20th in the nearly year-long fighting that has taken an estimated 14,000 lives.

Police reported no fighting in Beirut for the second night but said there were sporadic clashes in the summer resorts in the hills overlooking the capital. Spokesmen said Junblatt's tough mountain warriors made repeated forays in attempts to win control of Kakhaleh, a strategic crossroads town seven miles east of Beirut.

Police spokesman said the Christians repulsed the attacks for the fourth day.

SNOW WHITE — Although temperatures have been low for the past few days, this star magnolia plant has evidently caught spring fever. Located in front of the Mark Girtin residence, 517 Mayfair Dr., the new growth's white coloring is not due to snowfall, as has been the case recently many other blooms.

Report Accord near in Teamster strike

ARLINGTON HEIGHTS, Ill. (AP) — The Teamsters union's coast-to-coast truck strike rolled into its second day today with bargainers reported "very close" to agreement on a total economic package.

But sources close to both sides said disagreement on how the money package should be distributed among wages, cost-of-living benefits and other contract items remained to be settled when negotiations resumed today.

The work stoppage already has begun slowing the movement of goods, produced some scattered violence and has both government and business leaders deeply worried about the possible impact on the nation's commercial well-being.

All four U.S. auto makers said they would have to start shutting down production plants next week if the largest walkout ever by truckers is still on.

Labor Secretary W.J. Usery Jr., the key federal official involved in the dispute between 400,000 Teamsters and the trucking industry, remained at the bargaining site in this Chicago suburb trying to resolve the lingering money disputes.

Ford administration sources said it appeared that the government would refrain, at least temporarily, from taking action to invoke the Taft-Hartley

Act while bargaining continued and there were indications of progress. The act provides for a 80-day cooling-off period, but that would take the pressure off negotiators.

Usery's continued presence at the talks was taken as one hopeful sign. He canceled tentative plans to return Thursday to Washington and remained until negotiations recessed at 1:20 a.m. this morning. An aide said he would stay in the negotiations again today.

Usery said five or six money issues were all that kept the two sides apart. However, business leaders around the country sent telegrams Thursday to Washington, urging Ford to obtain a back-to-work order.

Some 60 per cent of the nation's manufactured products are moved by truck, and some key industries had only a few days' supply of materials at hand. But grocery store and gasoline supplies appeared generally to be adequate for the short term, and hospital facilities generally indicated no immediate shortages in essential medical supplies, drugs or equipment.

Several grocery store associations indicated that it would be at least a week before food supplies might begin to reflect the strike's effects.

The Federal Department of Transportation said one million workers would be forced off their jobs by a week-long strike, translating to a $300-million loss to the economy.

Federal officials also feared that a big Teamsters settlement would touch off yet another inflationary wage spiral, setting the pattern for other big-labor industries that negotiate later in the year.

Teamsters in the continental United States manned picket lines when their three-year contract expired at 12:01 a.m. Thursday. Many trucking firms, however, were able to keep their rigs operating after they signed individual interim agreements to meet Teamsters demands for $1.75 hourly in salary increases and another $17 a week in pension, health and welfare benefits.

Those demands, plus an unlimited cost-of-living increase, are contained in the three-year package the union was last reported seeking in the negotiations here with Trucking Employers Inc., the industry bargaining agent representing 16,000 companies.

Candidates stump for New York, Wisconsin votes

By The Associated Press

President Ford took his campaign for a full term in the White House to Wisconsin today while Democrats battling for their party's presidential nomination sought votes there and in New York.

First on Ford's agenda for today was a news conference in Milwaukee, followed by a trip to West Bend. He planned stops Saturday in Fond du Lac and Green Bay — all in search of urban, ethnic and farm votes in Tuesday's balloting.

Former Georgia Gov. Jimmy Carter, Washington Sen. Henry M. Jackson and Arizona Rep. Morris K. Udall, contestants in the Democratic race, were on a single stage in New York City on Thursday. Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey, D-Minn., unannounced as a candidate but willing to accept a draft, was there, too.

Humphrey drew frequent and loud applause as he called for a new Marshall Plan to rebuild the cities. The Marshall Plan was devised after World War II to reconstruct Europe.

The New York primary is also next Tuesday.

By evening, Carter and Jackson were in Buffalo and Udall was headed for Wisconsin. Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace has been in Wisconsin for several days and planned to stay there through the weekend.

The primaries in Wisconsin and New York are the first since Ford was upset by Ronald Reagan in North Carolina on March 23.

Reagan, the former California governor, is listed on the GOP ballot in Wisconsin, but he called off all campaign appearances in the state this week to concentrate on a national television speech Wednesday night. In the speech, he assailed Ford's administration, particularly of foreign policy.

Discussion at Thursday morning's forum in New York City, sponsored by the National Conference of Democratic Mayors, was on urban issues.

Jackson and Udall, as they have before, called for a federal takeover of all welfare costs, while Carter said he was against the idea.

The former Georgia governor said such a takeover would add $15 billion to $20 billion to the budget without improving benefits. The states should carry the welfare burden, he said, not local governments.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare has said it does not know exactly how much it would cost for the federal government to assume all welfare costs.

Neither Jackson nor Udall said specifically how they would pay for such a program, although Jackson has said he would finance his social programs through full employment, which he has said would raise the government's income tax revenues.

Wallace, in an interview in Rhinelander, Wis., said the United States is more dependent on foreign energy sources that it was during the oil embargo of 1973-74. He called for Congress to enact a national energy conservation plan.

Sen. Frank Church of Idaho, the most recent entrant in the Democratic race, said he will ask the three television networks to sell him a half-hour for a live address.

In Neenah, Wis., former Defense Secretary Melvin Laird accused Reagan of making a phony attack on America's military might in his nationally televised address.

The former California governor "deliberately misled the American people by using false quotes to gain a slight advantage in the campaign," Laird said while campaigning for Ford. Reagan said Wednesday night that Ford's foreign policy has left the United States in second place militarily behind the Soviet Union.

Laird said Reagan's attack should have been directed instead against the Democratic-controlled Congress for cutting defense spending.

There were these other political developments Thursday:

—The most recent Harris survey showed Humphrey the preferred choice for the Democratic nomination, with Carter running a clear second, followed

Nonsmoking bill passed by Senate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio could become the 33rd state with a law regulating smoking in public places, although a bill that has cleared the Senate doesn't apply to restaurants, liquor spots and bowling alleys.

Sen. M. Morris Jackson, D-21 Cleveland, a nonsmoker, won 25-7 approval Thursday of his measure which he said represents a compromise with restaurant operators who objected mainly on grounds of expense and customer inconvenience.

The Cleveland lawmaker's bill had been pending in the Senate Rules Committee for almost a year. He said it "is not frivolous. It's a bill whose time has come. It is not a no smoking bill. It simply recognizes that the nonsmoker has a right to breathe relatively clean air."

Under the bill, which now goes to the House, nonsmoking areas would have to be designated in enclosed theaters (except lobbies), classrooms, hospital rooms, state institutions and universities, rest homes, office buildings, libraries, museums, and vehicles used for public transportation. Lighting up in a nonsmoking area would make a smoker subject to arrest and a $100 fine, under Jackson's bill.

He said similar legislation was introduced last year in 45 of the 50 states, and that 32 of them so far have enacted laws.

Jackson, in response to a question, said his bill would apply to the Statehouse and to the Senate chamber itself. However, he said his bill is "flexible enough" that individual senators' desks can be designated either as smoking or nonsmoking areas, and that the Senate's political seating arrangement won't have to be disturbed. About half of the 33 senators smoke, some cigars and pipes.

In other action, before the lawmakers adjourned for the weekend, the House defeated a proposed constitutional amendment. It would give

Laborer wins Ohio Lottery

CLEVELAND (AP) — A Conneaut laborer says his winning of the Ohio Lottery's Buckeye 1,000 contest Thursday will help ease him into retirement.

"At my age, the most important thing is that the money will solve my retirement problems," said 58-year-old George J. Gleason. He will receive $1,000 a month for life and is guaranteed $400,000.

As for how else he's going to spend his winnings, Gleason said "I'm going to find a quiet, secluded place to think about it. I purposely wasn't going to spend anything in my mind until I saw the money."

He is the father of three and he operates machines for a welding company in Ashtabula.

Ohio Lottery spokesmen said the other winners were George Reichert of Celina, $4,000; Charles Miller of LaRue, $3,000; Maurice Gordon of Islip, N.Y., $2,000; Don Matthews of Indianapolis, $1,000.

In the Buckeye 1,000, the six-digit number was 288196; the five-digit number was 66236; the four-digit number was 8674 and the three-digit number was 982. In the Spirit of '76, the six-digit number was 107181; the five-digit number was 89730 and the four-digit number was 4480. The Liberty Bell numbers were 13,16,14 and 55.

Breakup of oil firms pushed

WASHINGTON (AP) — A new effort to break up the nations' largest oil corporations into a host of smaller companies may have won the approval of a Senate panel but the industry giants are far from becoming one-pump outfits.

The proposal to force the break-up of the 18 largest oil companies won bare 4 to 3 approval Thursday from the Senate Judiciary Committee's subcommittee on anti-trust, but despite its earth-shaking intentions, the move caused few ripples in Capitol Hill.

Getting through the subcommittee is probably the easiest test the bill will face, and there were no predictions that it would successfully make it through the full Judiciary Committee, much less through Congress and past the President.

Backers of the measure hailed it as major legislation for consumers.

Sen. Birch Bayh, D-Ind., who originally introduced the legislation, said breaking up the 18 industry giants would increase competition and "result in enormous benefit to the consuming public."

James F. Flug, director of Energy Action, a self-styled public interest lobbying group, said the measure "makes good economic sense for consumers, investors and the industry itself."

But William P. Tavoulareas, president of Mobil Oil Corp., warned that even subcommittee approval of the measure was "a first step toward higher energy prices and a serious weakening of the nation's ability to become self-sufficient in energy. This is not the time for sweeping social experiments that could jeopardize the nation's energy security in order to provide short-term benefits for a few politicians."

A Judiciary Committee staff aide said it probably would be at least three weeks before the proposal would reach the full committee. But Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., who won major changes in Bayh's bill in an effort to win more support for it, said he hoped the full committee would give the measure some priority.

Bayh said a filibuster to block action may be attempted in the Judiciary Committee, and he noted it is more difficult to end a filibuster in a committee than on the Senate floor.

As approved by the subcommittee, the measure would affect Exxon, Texaco, Shell, Standard of Indiana, Gulf, Mobil, Standard of California, Atlantic-Richfield, Getty, Union, Sun, Phillips, Continental, Cities Service, Marathon, BP-Sohio, Amerada Hess and Ashland.

The measure would require the companies to confine their operations to one of four principal segments of the industry — production, marketing, refining or transportation — and to divest themselves of other operations. Refiners would be permitted to retain retail outlets held prior to Jan. 1.

Senate seeks disclosure of intelligence costs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate intelligence committee will seek to force the public disclosure of the total amount of money the United States spends each year on spy operations.

Chairman Frank Church, D-Idaho, said Thursday the panel would either publish the spending figure in its final report or recommend the dollar amount be made public when Congress is asked to approve the intelligence budget. The committee got the figure from intelligence officials during its inquiry into the U.S. intelligence organization.

The Ford administration opposes both options, arguing that disclosure of even a lump-sum figure would give valuable information to rival intelligence services. "It's not at the confrontation stage yet," one administration official said in reference to the panel's intentions. "But I would predict it will become confrontational."

The figure the intelligence panel seeks to make public includes the annual budgets of the CIA, the National Security Agency, the Defense Intelligence Agency, the State Department's bureau of intelligence and research and the FBI's intelligence division.

The House intelligence committee

estimated annual intelligence spending at $10 billion, but the official sum as reflected in the budgets of the various intelligence agencies has never been revealed.

Church and other members of the Senate panel say publication of the figure is required under the Constitution, which states that no funds may be spent by the government without a public accounting.

An administration official acknowledged there is no practical way to prevent the committee from publishing the figure in its final report, scheduled to be released later this month, saying, "I don't see how we could prevent them from printing information we gave them."

The administration would appear to have a better chance of blocking disclosure if the committee chooses not to publish the figure but to recommend its disclosure in future Senate debates on the budget.

Church said this option was based on the assumption that the Senate would create a new committee with jurisdiction over the entire intelligence community.

A resolution to create such a panel currently is before the Senate Rules Committee but has met strong objections from key senators.

Job plans push red ink higher

WASHINGTON (AP) — A last-minute addition for jobcreating programs boosts the proposed congressional budget target to more than $413 billion, which would mean a federal deficit of $50 billion next year and a clash this spring with President

Ford over spending.

Ford is seeking a $395-billion spending lid for the 1977 fiscal year, which begins October 1, and a deficit of no more than $42.9 billion.

The House and Senate budget committees met in separate sessions

Series begins next week to introduce committeemen

The Record-Herald will begin Monday a series of articles about precinct representatives to the Republican and Democratic central committees.

One member of each political party from each precinct is elected to serve on the central committee of his respective party. For the most part, this will serve only to introduce the residents of the precinct to his representative because in most cases not more than one Republican and one Democrat have filed as candidates.

The only exceptions are city precinct 4-C and county precinct Union West. In each of these precincts, two Democrats will vie for election to the Democratic Central Committee.

The precinct committeemen are important to their constituents because they are the neighborhood representative to each political party. Through them, their neighbors may convey their feelings as to what their respective parties can do to improve local politics.

The candidates to be presented will be elected during the June 8 primary election. The 44 precinct representatives compose the central committee of their respective party.

Each party's central committee then elects, from its own ranks, and executive committee.

When a county office becomes vacant for any reason, the central committee of the party of the elected official appoints his replacement. By making their wishes known to their local committee-men, all county residents can provide input in the selection process.

Each party's executive committee sponsors fund-raising events to generate money for political candidates. It also works closely with party "clubs" which raise money for candidates.

Thus, the central committee helps determine which candidates will receive monetary support and to what extent they will be aided financially.

In those precincts where one party or the other has no committeeman registered for the primary ballot, the central committee will appoint a representative following the election.

The Record-Herald will contact each precinct representative who has filed for the upcoming election and provide a brief introduction to the public.

Jobless figures for March given

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's unemployment rate edged down to 7.5 per cent of the work force in March, marking the fifth straight monthly decline and the longest sustained drop in 14 years, the government said today.

Although the decline was slight — down from 7.6 per cent in February — Labor Department analysts said the steady improvement since October reflected continuing economic recovery from the recession.

Blacks and women benefited most from the March decline in unemployment, which was down by about 100,000, to a total of 7 million last month.

Total employment continued climbing in March, rising by another 375,000 to an all-time high of 86.7 million, the government said. Since reaching a recession-low last March, the number of Americans with jobs has risen by 2.6 million, with adult women accounting for more than half of the over-the-year increase.

The last time the unemployment rate dropped five consecutive months was between September 1961 and February 1962.

Unemployment declined gradually from the recession peak of 8.9 per cent last May and hovered about 8.6 per cent before beginning a rapid decline last October. But even with the improvement the jobless rate at 7.5 per cent remains far above its normal post World War II level.

Nevertheless, the Ford administration cited the improvement in the jobless rate and the declining inflation rate as vindication of its

Thursday and approved outlay and revenue targets which would increase both spending and the federal deficit.

Both panels also recommended a Social Security tax hike and the retention of the existing income tax cut.

The House panel set a $413.7-billion target, and approved an amendment opposed by all Republican members, adding $2.2 billion in anticipation that Congress will pass job-creating legislation to replace a bill Ford has vetoed.

Hours later, the Senate panel settled on a $413.1 billion budget which would mean a 1977 deficit of $50.7 billion, $100 million more than envisioned by the House panel.

The committee figures now go before the House and Senate. A compromise will have the full Congress agreeing on one figure. Floor action is expected by Easter.

Major increases over Ford's January recommendations included more than $6 billion in the category of education, employment and social services and $3 billion in income security.

Even so, the proposals often a recommendation that would have cut Ford's plan for defense spending by $7 billion. He threatened to veto any major reduction in defense spending. The committees approved $112 billion for defense, $1.3 billion under Ford's recommendation.

The committees projected higher revenues by retaining existing income-tax reductions, rejecting Ford's proposals for an added $10-billion cut, increasing the Social Security tax and charging Medicare patients more for ordinary care while providing catastrophic expense protection.

The result was a $363-billion revenue estimate, compared with Ford's $351 billion.

Under a new budget law, being used fully this year for the first time, Congress is required by May 15 to adopt a tentative budget to guide — but not bind — action on money bills.

A second resolution, setting binding ceilings, is to be adopted before the new year begins on Oct. 1.

cautious economic policy. It also has been a boost to President Ford's election campaign.

Government economists see further improvement in the jobless rate this year, but caution that the decline is not likely to be continuous every month.

In advance of the new unemployment report, Julius Shiskin, commissioner of labor statistics, had said he wouldn't be surprised to see the jobless rate edge up in March.

Shiskin said the normal decline in unemployment during the first year after a recession is about 1.5 per cent. By February, it had already fallen by more than 1 per cent, and he predicted a drop of another one-half to three-quarters of a point during the rest of the year.

Other economists, including Sidney L. Jones, assistant treasury secretary for economic affairs, say statistics can move rapidly for a period of time, then reach a plateau and "hang up for a while."

The last time unemployment has been below 7.5 per cent was in December 1974 when it was 7.2 per cent.

Jobless rates among most of the worker groups in the labor force were relatively unchanged last month with the exception of blacks whose unemployment rate fell 1.2 per cent to 12.5 per cent. Much of the improvement was among adult women, the government said.

Joblessness among blacks is now down nearly 2 percentage points from last September's peak of 14.4 per cent.

Nonsmoking

Ohio a flexible debt limit and permit the legislature, by a two-thirds vote, to issue limited amounts of capital improvement bonds without a vote of the people. The vote was 50-41, but 60 (a three-fifths majority) votes are required for constitutional amendments.

Some opponents said they think the state's existing $750,000 debt limit, imposed in the 1840s and left intact through the years, is a good thing. They said Ohio has maintained good credit because the only way its debt could exceed that amount was with a vote of the people.

However, Rep. Marcus A. Roberto, D-62 Ravenna, the chief sponsor, said the limitations set in his proposal would assure that Ohio's debt would be reasonable and be repaid in an orderly manner.

The proposed amendment, which may be reconsidered by the House, limits bonds that could be issued by the legislature to 6 per cent of the state's revenues the two preceding years. It also requires that 4 per cent of all the state's indebtedness must be repaid each fiscal year.

Stock prices go lower

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials was off more than a point minutes after the opening, and New York Stock Exchange listed losers topped gainers by about a 4 to 3 margin.

The trucking strike, a factor in the previous session's decline, was seen by analysts as a continuing market depressant. Talks between trucking firms and teamsters were continuing today.

As the market opened, the Labor Department reported the nation's unemployment rate fell by 0.1 percentage point to 7.5 per cent in March, the fifth monthly drop in a row.

Among today's prices, United Nuclear was ahead 3/4 to 26 3/4, Mobil Oil was off 1/4 to 56, and Kodak lost 3/4 to 118 3/4.

On Thursday the Dow Jones industrial average gave up 5.35 to 994.10, with losers holding a 3-2 edge over gainers among NYSE-listed issues.

Big Board volume was a relatively light 17.91 million shares.

The NYSE's composite stock index was down 0.26 to 54.54, while the American Exchange's market value index was off 0.34 to 103.90.

FBI activity disclosures not enough?

WASHINGTON (AP) — A House panel plans a critical review of Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi's plan to notify only some of the victims of the FBI's Cointelpro campaign of harassment.

Rep. Don Edwards, D-Calif., said Thursday a judiciary subcommittee that the chairs will examine the plan and may summon Levi to explain why he chose not to notify all Cointelpro targets.

"It would seem to me that all of the persons who were subject to harassment should be advised," Edwards said in an interview.

The Justice Department announced Thursday that Levi has assigned three department lawyers, including an FBI agent, to determine who "may have been personally harmed by improper Cointelpro activities."

The department will attempt to notify those persons that they were Cointelpro targets. Full details of the improper harassment will be provided only to those who request it.

"That's really totally unacceptable," said Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., a member of the Edwards' subcommittee. "It's outrageous that three faceless lawyers will pick and choose. We'll insist that every one be informed."

Cointelpro was the FBI name for 12 counterintelligence programs conducted at various times between 1956 and 1971 to harass and disrupt militant political groups on the left and right. The targets included the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, the Ku Klux Klan, Students for a Democratic Society and the Communist party USA.

The harassment campaign directly or indirectly affected thousands of Americans who were associated with the target groups.

Cointelpro tactics often involved sending anonymous letters to cause trouble for an individual with his employer or family and distributing phony literature to stir dissension among organizations.

GAO doubts New York stability

WASHINGTON (AP) — The General Accounting Office, the congressional audit agency, is less optimistic than Treasury Secretary William E. Simon about New York City's ability to repay emergency federal loans, a senator says.

The head of the GAO, Comptroller General Elmer Staats, is testifying today before the Senate Banking Committee about his agency's assessment of the city's financial prospects.

Simon told the panel Thursday that there is basis for "cautious optimism" that New York City can repay its current $1.26-billion loan to the federal government along with carrying out its promise to balance its books.

But chairman Sen. William Proxmire, D-Wis., who gives New York City a guarded chance of accomplishing that, said a GAO report to be released at the hearing is not quite so optimistic.

While he would not discuss the details of the report, Proxmire said Staats is "more skeptical on their (New York City's) ability to repay (the loans) and balance their budget than Secretary Simon."

The status of the city has caused some concern.

New York Gov. Hugh Carey told the panel that New York is "out of the disaster area. We are not out of the area of grim reality."

OSU television sets welfare system series

A series of five television shows entitled "Welfare: Who Needs It?" will examine the issues of poverty, welfare, and American values beginning Monday.

The series is produced by the Ohio Citizens' Council and the Ohio State University College of Humanities in conjunction with the Telecommunications Center at Ohio State University. The Ohio Program in the Humanities, which funds programs showing how the humanities bear on issues of current interest, provided partial funding for the project.

An introduction to the series entitled "What is welfare?" will be aired April 5 on Channel 34. This program covers the forms of welfare, qualifications for receiving it, and the stereotypes of the poor. The categories of public assistance and the functions of welfare will also be viewed.

The program will deal with issues of whether welfare causes poverty, and if the cost of the bureaucracy is really justified. Perhaps welfare is not the only answer to the question of how to meet the needs of the people.

On April 12, "Public responses to the poor: A historical perspective" will be shown. This program examines welfare from a historical viewpoint. Beginning with the welfare system in highly urbanized imperial Rome, the program traces the origin of welfare, gives both historical impression and today's perceptions, and covers the New Deal programs.

This program will attempt to show whether or not the welfare system has ever attacked the real causes of poverty, and if the basic ideas of the welfare system have changed since Elizabethan times.

"Welfare and the work ethic: An American issue" may be viewed on April 19. This program examines the conflict in American ideology between the work ethic and the assumptions of the welfare system. Topics covered include: the definition of the work ethic, how worker and work attitudes have changed, the rights of those on welfare, and the role of the private vs. public sector. The program brings up the question of whether everyone in our society can work, and whose responsibility it is to create jobs.

On April 26, the public may hear a discussion of "The welfare bureaucracy." This program discusses the nature of the system which confronts a welfare recipient, and its goals and functions. The dehumanizing aspects of welfare are shown, along with the conflicting goals of the welfare system, the problems of the bureaucracy, and the ways people become "locked into" the system. This presentation brings to mind thought-provoking questions such as "Does our present system encourage 'cheating,' and can it be improved without resolving the conflicting goals?"

The concluding one-hour program is entitled "Poverty and welfare: What are the alternatives?" and will be aired May 3. This program explores possible improvements provides for the improvement of the coverage of programs related to welfare, such as workman's compensation, unemployment compensation, and Medicaid. Other changes discussed include: eliminating red tape, raising the eligibility levels, ending discrimination, and distributing cash, not in-kind benefits.

Nobody likes welfare, but it is possible to produce an alternative that is both economically sound and politically viable? The shows will be aired at 7 p.m. on Mondays over WOSU-TV, Columbus.

TV Viewing

NEW YORK (AP) — "An enraged and bitter John Randolph left Pat when Liz told him about Marianne's abortion. Barbara Weaver has been offering her comfort ... to John and he wants to make the relationship permanent!"

A Rona Barrett revelation? Nope, only the opening line in a week's worth of plot summaries of "Another World," one of 14 soap operas closely observed each week by 25-year-old Manuela Soares.

It isn't that the lady, who graduated from Rutgers in 1973 with a degree in comparative literature, is going for a master's in comparative anguish. It's her job to write summaries of soap opera plot lines.

She's the editor and chief plot-watcher at "Daily TV Newsletter," a New York publication that each week keeps viewers posted on both soapy story lines and the doings of daytime drama stars. The newsletter costs $24 a year for 48 issues.

Miss Soares, who says the newsletter began in July 1974 and now has almost 12,000 subscribers, including one in Ethiopia, admits she hadn't much time while in school to watch daytime television.

But now she sees no less than seven soap operas each weekday, five days a week. She switches the dial to inspect episodes of all 14 daytime dramas during the week and thus check what she sees against the material provided her by the producers of each soap's saga.

"It's just to make sure," says Miss Soares, a native of Irvington, N.J. "They discuss the shows with me, but you still have to watch to get a lot of the nuances and to really know what's happening."

Keeping track of 70 plot lines a week sounds like an ordeal guaranteed to put one in the Home for the Befuddled. But Miss Soares, who does her viewing on two TV sets in her office, insists it isn't all that difficult.

"After a while, you get so you can manage to do other work and keep an ear on the TV set," she says. "Of course, the music is very helpful. You can tell there's something coming up just judging by the music."

Miss Soares, a veteran of more than a year of soap opera-watching, recently added "Mary Hartman, Mary Hartman" to her coverage. But she only writes feature stories about it, not plot summaries.

This is because more than half the stations carrying it air it at night, including WNEW-TV here. The lateness of the WNEW showing causes an understandable problem for Miss Soares, who explains it this way:

"I find it difficult to stay up until 11 o'clock at night to watch 'Mary Hartman' after watching television all day."

Court curbs on press freedom

A new Twentieth Century Fund task force report should help to correct a dangerous swing toward growing court restraints on the press with regard to criminal proceedings. The report provides the public with a welcome reminder that "the essential meaning of freedom of the press is that editors - not judges or any other public officials - should determine what to publish."

This is the heart of the matter. For while the effort to assure a fair trial for defendants is important, this cannot properly be achieved by judicial curbs on the constitutional guarantee of press freedom.

It does not follow that the press has no obligation to exercise responsible news judgment in an effort to minimize the tension between these conflicting rights of fair trial and press freedom; of course it has. The press must acknowledge that there is some justification for the dissent entered by one task force member, U.S. District Judge John R. Bartels of New York, who deplored "excessive zeal, lack of restraint and in some cases irresponsible behavior on the part of some members of the press during the course of a trial."

We concur with the task force majority, however, in maintaining that codes meant to guide conduct of courts and the press in such situations must remain voluntary. Writing such codes into law would, the report said, "stultify" the intent of the First Amendment. The verb is aptly chosen.

The Twentieth Century Fund group did not operate in a vacuum. In recent times there has been a surge of judicial attempts to control press coverage of criminal proceedings and related events. The study was evidently undertaken in response to this.

Some of the judicial practices deplored in the report need to be

reiterated. It cites orders forbidding publication of material obtained outside the courtroom, a restraint which clearly violates both letter and spirit of the free press guarantee. It notes court imposition of silence on defendants, lawyers and others from whom information is normally obtained. It points to reliance on secrecy, in particular "a disturbing tendency to exclude the press (and thus the public) from significant portions of a criminal proceeding."

One point in the report merits special attention. This is the lack of provision for quick appeal from curbs on the press, which has the effect of delaying relief "until the passage of time has drained the suppressed information of its news value." That dangerously undercuts the freedom of the press - and this, in turn, inhibits the public's right to know about judicial proceedings.

LOCAL VIEWPOINT . . . by Geoff Mavis

Holmes investigates murder

It was in the Spring of '76 that my companion Sherlock Holmes and I were summoned to the county seat on urgent business.

The master detective had appeared on my doorstep in a state of animated excitement, informing me that I was to leave at once with him on a new case.

Not until we had reached the outskirts of the town of 13,000 people did my friend break an intense state of concentration that had hung over him since our departure.

"There is more fog surrounding recent events in this town than in all of London, Watson," he said.

Eager for a chance to converse, and curious to know what our mission would be, I asked Holmes to explain. "It is simply this: a crime has been committed, and due to a lack of facts available to the public, many rumors are spreading about."

"But who is desirous of our services, Holmes, and what do you propose to do?" I asked.

"The local newspaper has requested that I investigate, and I am to get to the bottom of this matter."

"But surely, Holmes, I interjected, "Neither you nor anyone else should interfere with the law enforcement operations and their attempts to construct a valid case. Sensational misinformation can hamper and even destroy the police department's work."

"True, Watson, I can only obtain the facts. From then on it is up to the media to see that they are reported fairly and without hearsay or bias."

"But where do you get the facts," I demanded. "Few have been released so far. Perhaps there is nothing of use."

"Ah, but there are facts to be used, Watson, and the facts that I am talking about are those that provide information, and do not hamper official investigations."

"Surely you are treading a thin line," I said. The solution to the problem depends upon whose side you are on."

"Not necessarily so, Watson, with that, type of thinking, you are following a line of reasoning that is oblivious to helpful information in front of you."

"Explain further, Holmes," I asked.

"The point is this, A large percentage of the populous is interested in reading the details of local event that is unusual. Much information concerning the recent crime may not be important to police investigators, but may be interesting to readers."

"What does that include, for example?"

"In this case, Watson, information sought for release may be details such as where the body was found, the caliber of the gun, how many bullets were found, and what the victim was known to have done that day. Too often, Watson, a blanket over almost everything, when in fact, lesser restraints would provide adequate security for official investigation."

"But the police are often too busy with their own work to furnish the facts they think the newspaper or radio might want." "Very true, Watson, the police are as helpful as they are allowed to be. The heat of an investigation may not permit time for a briefing. But perhaps an arrangement to provide information to the media may be made at a latter, less inconvenient time for police officers."

Holmes removed his pipe and then continued his narration. "In any case, Watson, a "yes" or "no" reply to a question takes no longer than a "no comment", and provides relatively small room for spectacular inferences created intentionally or unintentionally."

"Let me repeat again, Watson, a statement of mine recently quoted in your documentation entitled, A Scandal in Bohemia, 'It is a capital mistake to theorize before one has data. Insensibly one begins to twist facts to suit theories, instead of theories to suit facts.'"

Ohio Perspective

Conflict of interest?

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Should an appointed member of a major state agency be permitted to campaign for Congress without giving up his public job?

The question recurs around Ohio's capital city this election year as a result of the candidacy of David C. Sweet, one of two Democrats on the three-member Public Utilities Commission, for the U.S. House in the state's 15th Congressional District.

Sweet, who was former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan's development director until December 1974, claims his candidacy represents no conflict, and that he's in the race to stay.

GOP Gov. James A. Rhodes and other Republicans have called on Sweet to resign the commission post given him by Gilligan just before the later yielded the governor's office to Rhodes. The governor said Sweet should step down if for no other reason than to assure Ohioans that his decisions affecting the state's big utility corporations can't raise questions about possible campaign contributions.

Rhodes, as Sweet and others have pointed out, would be in a position to name Sweet's successor and tip control of the PUCO back to his own party. Commissioners named by the governor serve fixed terms, and may be removed only for cause.

Sweet, apparently in response to Rhodes' comments, filed with the Ohio Ethics Commission a campaign plan which he said will avoid any possible conflicts of interests.

He said he turned over his complete personal financial statement along with copies of his federal income tax returns dating back to 1971—the year he entered public service in Ohio.

Also as part of the package Sweet included was a statement saying he owns no stocks, bonds, or any financial interest in any corporation regulated by the commission. The statement pledged that he would not accept any campaign contributions from any employee or agent of a utility, and that anyone donating to his campaign would be required to sign a statement attesting that they are not an employee or agent of a utility.

Sweet said he also plans to prepare and file time sheets every two weeks indicating the number of hours he has spent on commission business, and that he plans to use the car furnished him by the commission on PUCO business only.

Sweet said his candidacy for the office now held by Rep. Chalmers P. Wylie, R-Ohio, will not force him to "serve two masters", as alleged by Rhodes. "I will remain on the commission during my candidacy, and, in doing so, will serve only one master, the people of Ohio," he said.

The commissioner's detractors, including Rhodes, as much as conceded there is nothing in Ohio law to prevent him from running. But they felt, they said, it was a matter of prudent judgment that suggests Sweet should resign or get out of the race.

Dear Abby:

Wife perplexed about yo-yo marriage

DEAR ABBY: I am writing to you in desperation. After six years of marriage my husband just walked off and left me. I feel like my whole world is falling apart.

One day three months ago I came home and discovered that he had moved out, lock, stock and barrel. I nearly went out of my mind.

Two weeks later he called to say that he was living out of town and was involved with another woman, but that he didn't want a divorce.

He comes in town once a week to see me. We go out together and he supports me. (He's a musician.) He says he still loves me but he doesn't want to live with me or stop seeing me.

Abby, I don't want a once-a-week husband, but I don't want to lose him. My friends tell me that I'm a fool and that as long as I give him his freedom to come and go, he'll never come back to me permanently.

Should I give him an ultimatum? I still love him. Please tell me what to do.

OUT OF MY MIND

DEAR OUT: Do nothing in haste. The worst mistake a woman can make is to give her husband an ultimatum if she isn't ready to accept the consequences. If you still love him, hang in there, and in time you will know what to do.

DEAR ABBY: My boss thinks he's perfect. I've worked for him for 11 years and have always automatically corrected his mistakes without calling them to his attention.

Lately, whenever I make a mistake and he catches it, he will call my attention to it with scorn and derision. I dislike this. After all, if I did my work exactly as he instructed me, there would be literally 20 times the mistakes.

Would you advise me to point out all of his mistakes so that he would realize how many he makes?

SECRETARY

DEAR SEC: No. Continue to correct his mistakes automatically and without comment—that's what you're being paid to do. However, do let him know that you resent the "scorn and derision."

DEAR ABBY: My wife and I both smoke. We have smoked for years and realize that we have set a bad example for our daughter, 14, but we can't quit now. We know for a fact that our daughter smokes, but we refuse to give her permission to smoke in our home.

To compound our problem, my mother-in-law (who also smokes) agrees with the child. She claims that we are wrong in making a "sneak" out of the child. She insists that we allow our daughter to smoke in front of us and has even given her cigarettes.

I disagree and am appalled by my mother-in-law's attitude. Is there a solution?

WITHHOLD OUR NAMES.

DEAR WITHHOLD: Your mother-in-law would have made a perfect serpent in the garden of Eden. The obvious solution to your problem is for you and your wife to quit smoking. And for goodness' sake, as long as your daughter is a minor and you have anything to say about it, do not give her permission to smoke in your home-or out of it!

In 1792, Congress established the U.S. Mint.

In 1882, the outlaw, Jesse James, was shot and killed by a member of his gang in St. Joseph, Mo.

In 1944, Soviet forces entered Romania during World War II.

In 1947, the United Nations assigned the United States as a trustee of Pacific islands formerly held by Japan under mandate.

Ten years ago: The worst blizzards in 20 years swept northern England, causing death and hardship.

Five years ago: U.S. unemployment climbed back to a rate of six per cent after a two-month decline.

One year ago: President Ford ruled out any American bombing to aid South Vietnam's collapsing armed forces.

Today's birthdays: Actor Alec Guinness is 62. Television actor and producer Jack Webb is 56.

Thought for today: War is little more than a catalogue of mistakes and misfortunes. — Sir Winston Churchill, 1874-1965.

Bicentennial footnote: Two hundred years ago today, President John Hancock of the Continental Congress congratulated George Washington on the British evacuation of Boston, writing: "The patriotic principles which led you to the field, have also led you to glory."

Death and Burial of Abraham

Then Abraham gave up the ghost . . . And his sons Isaac and Ishmael buried him in the cave of Machpelah. —Genesis 25: 8-9

After Rebekah had given water to Abraham's servant, she brought him into her home to meet her family. They welcomed the stranger who explained his mission—to seek a wife for Isaac, his master's son. And Rebekah, he told them, was the answer to their prayers. Both the maid and her family agreed to the marriage, whereupon the servant brought forth lavish gifts of silver and gold for all. Then Rebekah, with her maidservants, set forth to Abraham's home, where she and Isaac were wed. Shortly after this, Sarah, the patriarch's wife, died and, though he was very old, he took another wife. Her name was Keturah, and she bore him six sons. At the age of 175, Abraham died, having made Isaac his sole heir. And Isaac and Ishmael, son of Hagar, buried him in a cave, next to Sarah.

Methodists honor member

The Bloomingburg United Methodist Church has set Sunday, April 4, 1976, as "Bill Purcell" Day. They will honor William J. Purcell, who served as church Treasurer and Financial Secretary for nearly forty-five years. Banking and his church have been Purcell's primary interests during his lifetime. He graduated from Bloomingburg High School and shortly afterwards took a job with The Peoples Bank of Bloomingburg. Here he served until that institution became a casualty of the 1930's Depression. In 1934 he accepted a position with the Washington Savings Bank (now the Huntington Bank) and served that institution in several capacities including chief executive officer for a few months prior to his retirement in 1967. The Day's activities include regular Sunday school at 10:00 a.m., and morning worship at 11:00 a.m. During worship services, special music will be provided by the choir under the direction of Mrs. Rex Bloomer and Mrs. Charles Duff, organist.

At 12:30 p.m. the church will have a "carry in" dinner for the members, families, and friends of the church.

An afternoon program will be held at 2:00 p.m. under the direction of Mr. Robert Hughes, chairman of the administrative board. The choir will offer additional music. Vocal solos by Mrs. Robert Moyer and Mrs. Mary Vincent, both of Wilmington will be given. Other singing presentations will be given by Miss Judy Messmer of Middletown and Miss Ann Cunningham, Kettering, a member of the church.

Former Pastors have been invited and several have indicated their intention of being present. They will have remarks appropriate to the occasion.

The afternoon activities will conclude with a reception for Purcell. His friends are cordially invited to attend.

Christian advice column says trust in God's mercy

Q. My husband is seeing another woman. I love him and don't want to give him up. How can I win him back?
A. The first thing you must do is face facts. It may be that you cannot win him back (you say you don't want to give him up, but you must realize he is not a possession for you to give). With this in mind, you can try to regain his love, not with negativism, but with a positive attitude. And a positive attitude of giving has been known to result in miracles.

I think it's important for you to realize you have an advantage over the woman your husband is seeing. Any relationship outside marriage is tinged with guilt. It has an unstable basis. But your marriage began in something good. Understandably you are bitter, but try to plant the seed of forgiveness. You can do this first by going back in memory to the time you fell in love. It will be a struggle for you to give first, but Jesus said, "Give (first) and it shall be given unto you" (Luke 6:38).

Stretch yourself to the limits of your patience and knowledge of human behavior. Don't get involved in destructive arguments and accusations that will do nothing but send your husband back to the woman he thinks "understands" him.

Good Hope revival slated

A week long revival, slated for April 4 through 11, will take place in the Good Hope United Methodist Church.

Beginning every night at 7:30, Rev. Howard Mayne, Albany, will be the featured evangelist. Special singing will also be provided.

Jeffersonville sets revival

The Pleasant View Church of Christ, Jeffersonville, has scheduled a revival meeting to take place at 7:30 p.m. April 9 through 11.

Special singing will be performed by the all female group, "Celebration," from the Cincinnati Bible College.

Mrs. Pierson's art works now on display at Fayette Center

Having sketched with pencil, and painted with watercolors since early childhood, oil painting is now Mrs. James (Evelyn) Pierson's first choice. Acrylics, pastels and watercolors are done for variance of techniques and fun. Some of her works are now on display at Fayette Center through May 1.

Lacking a formal education in art, she is mostly self-taught, but has studied under local teachers to learn more about the basics of different media. Observing and reading about the Old Masters techniques have also helped her. She works from live setups, photos, slides and sketches. Exhibits are mostly summer art shows around Cincinnati, and the Columbus areas, also fairs and bank showing. Her largest painting to date, is the mural at McDonald's Restaurant of the Court House at Washington C.H., painted in 1974.

Formerly of the Washington C.H. area, she now resides at 3963 Ohio Rt. 729, near Sabina, and is a member of the Leesburg Brush and Palette Art

MRS. JAMES PIERSON

Homemakers Club meets

The Concord Homemakers Club met in the home of Mrs. Maurice Sollars for a noon carry-in luncheon. Miss Helen Perrill was the assisting hostess.

Mrs. Robert Case, president, conducted the business meeting which followed, and read "The Attic Mind," and "Spring Comes Back to the World." House cleaning hints were given in response to roll call.

Mrs. Maryon Mark, chairman, and Mrs. Ralph Theobald of the nominating committee, announced the following officers — Mrs. Kenneth Bush, president; Mrs. Maurice Sollars, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. Edgar Wilson, news reporter; and Mrs. Walter Sollars, assistant reporter.

Miss Perrill's program topics were "What is a Friend?" and "No More Crank Calls."

Those present were Mrs. Jean Nisley, Mrs. Shepard, Mrs. Heber Deer, Mrs. Case, Mrs. Walter Sollars, Mrs. Carlton Belt, Mrs. Bush, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Maryon Mark and the hostesses.

Mrs. Rose gets part in movie

Mrs. James E. Rose of Wilmington, formerly of Washington C.H., is branching into movies with her daughter, Eve Christopher. That is, she landed a speaking part in "Pipe Dream" for which her daughter was head auditor and which is coming out in about six months.

Grandson Scott and Mrs. Rose were extras in "All the President's Men," which was filmed in Washington, D.C. She's in the courtroom scene, very quickie appearance she emphasizes.

Mrs. Rose has returned from a visit in the West. She went in January to Burbank, Calif., where daughter Eve Christopher lives, and while Miss Christopher went to Alaska where Pipe Dream was filmed Mrs. Rose stayed at home with Scott. Her daughter was in Alaska four weeks and when she returned she got her mother an audition for the movie and Mrs. Rose won it.

She returned to Wilmington by way of Dallas, Tex., where she visited their other daughter, Mrs. Sandy Davis, and her daughter, Jennifer.

Coffee hour precedes Circle I meet

Miss Jane Jefferson, Mrs. Paul Engle and Mrs. James Wilson were hostesses at the coffee hour which preceded in the meeting of Circle I of First Presbyterian Church Thursday morning. Mrs. Gerald Wheat's devotions theme was "Message of the Lily."

The Mission Interpretation was given by Mrs. Harvey Heironimus concerning "Spiritual and Physical Hunger."

It was announced that First Presbyterian Church in Washington C.H. was represented by 17 who attended the Scioto Valley Presbyterian in Lancaster on Wednesday. Mrs. Wheat gave a report of the meeting, concerning the "Parade of Christian History of Women's Work in the Church."

May 7 is May Fellowship Day to be held at the Good Hope United Methodist Church at 1:30 p.m. when Mrs. Wheat will present the program titled "Valiant Women."

Mrs. Loren Noble led the Bible study for the program concerning "Jephthah's Daughter, Woman of Mystery."

NH Lioness Club to feature 'market basket'

Members of the New Holland Lioness Club met recently for the March dinner-meeting at Wardell's Party Home near Circleville.

Mrs. Delbert Remy, club president, opened the meeting with the Pledge to the Flag and Mrs. Leslie Tarbill, club chaplain, gave the invocation.

The business meeting followed the bountiful dinner, when it was decided to have the "Market Basket" for the money-making project of the month.

Hostesses Mrs. William Friece and Mrs. Virgil Johnson conducted two contests, with prizes going to Mrs. James Landman and Mrs. Harold Wright. Mrs. Wesley Ruth won the door prize.

Next month's hostesses will be Mrs. Landman and Mrs. Larry McFadden, when the "Market Basket" proceeds will be revealed.

The February meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Robert Bush, with Mrs. Remy the assisting hostess. Following the luncheon, the group enjoyed an evening of bingo, and prizes were awarded.

MINI-POUND CAKE

Sour cream version popular in North Carolina.

1 1/2 cups sifted flour
1/4 teaspoon baking soda
1/4 teaspoon salt
1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
1/4 teaspoon mace
1/2 cup butter or margarine
1 1/2 cups sugar
1/2 teaspoon grated lemon rind

1/2 teaspoon vanilla
3 eggs, separated
1/2 cup commercial sour cream

Sift together the flour, baking soda, salt, nutmeg and mace. Cream butter, 1 cup of the sugar, lemon rind and vanilla; beat in egg yolks, then sour cream. Fold in flour mixture. Beat egg whites until stiff; gradually beat in remaining sugar until very stiff; fold into batter. Turn into a greased and floured 6-cup fluted tube (bundt-style) pan. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven until a cake tester inserted in center comes out clean — about 1 hour. Loosen edges and around tube; turn out on a wire rack to cool.

SATURDAY REFRESHER

Poppyseed Cake with Tawny Frosting
Coffee or Tea

TAWNY FROSTING

2-3rds cup firmly packed dark brown sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
1-3rd cup water
1 pound confectioners' sugar

In a 1 1/2-quart saucepan over high heat stir together the brown sugar, salt and water until mixture comes to a full rolling boil; remove from heat and cool until bottom of pan feels lukewarm — about 10 minutes. In a medium mixing bowl stir the syrup into the confectioners' sugar; add butter and beat until soft and smooth. Use as a very heavy and sweet covering for Poppyseed Cake baked in a 10-inch angelcake pan. The flavor of the frosting may remind you of Penuche but is not so full-bodied.

'LET GEORGE DO IT' — Twenty-five seventh and eighth students from Jeffersonville Elementary School participated in the musical entitled 'Let George Do It' in The First Presbyterian Church, when the Senior Citizens of the Nutrition Program participated. Mrs. Sandy Staybrook directed and produced the entertainment, under the sponsorship of the local Altrusa Club, with Mrs. Gail Mershon and Mrs. Reynold Slaughter Jr., committee members.

ANYONE FOR TENNIS will be for Tric-Trac's one-piece tennis dress or drawstring shorts and crop top that bares midriff. All are done in 100 per cent cotton knit.

Tennis Togs

BY JOANO'SULLIVAN

"KEEP IT SIMPLE" is the fashion philosophy of Phyllis Keitlen of Tric-Trac, Ltd. who, like many young designers, steers clear of fussy fashions. She likes easy styling—she's trying to make the T-shirt a classic—and either bright colors, such as red, orange and green, or neutrals, including tobacco, ecru, and white.

"The neutrals seem to be the most popular for year-round best-selling," she observes.

As for T-shirts, she teams them with everything from pants to skirts that pull over, wrap, snap and tie. "The shirts are sexy and practical," she says.

Her favorite fabric is cotton. "Women are beginning to dress more realistically so cotton knits make sense," she believes. "I like the purity of cotton."

Phyllis, daughter of a Springfield, Mass., doctor, was seeing the world a few years ago—New York and London for the social life, St. Moritz for winter sports, Marvella and St. Tropez for summer. Travel plus a variety of interests, including flying, the theater, and art, broadened her horizon and led her into fashion.

Varied Career

She began coordinating and producing designer fashion shows and writing about fashion for international magazines. Later, she served as fashion consultant to designers, including Scott Barrie and Valentino. She worked for Coty Award-winners Alexis Kirk and Georgio Sant'Angelo, too. One of her more glamorous assignments was in Hollywood, where she was social secretary to Omar Sharif. This led her to a similar post in New York with the consul general of Morocco. Enticed into visiting Morocco, she was intrigued with the marvelous handicraft there. This gave her the idea of starting her own fashion firm, Tric-Trac, Ltd.

Imported cotton knits are the specialty of the house. Phyllis uses them for everything from T-shirts in every style and color to plain as well as exotic caftans.

She designs the entire collection herself but has contracted with Betsey Johnson to produce a small "collection within a collection" for her.

Where is she headed? Phyllis says the world is her oyster. Her future plans include lots of travel in search of exotic ideas she can translate into fashions for the American woman.

Oversight corrected

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House voted 91-2 Thursday to correct an oversight that apparently permits shock probation after a month's incarceration for felons such as murderers, rapists and others convicted of serious crimes.

Rep. Alan E. Norris, R-27 Westerville, asked the House to close the loophole as a result of a Feb. 15 Ohio Supreme Court decision holding that shock probation is permissible under present law.

Truck strike impact coming

By The Associated Press

Spokesmen for all four domestic auto makers say they face possible plant shutdowns next week as the impact of the first nationwide Teamsters strike begins to be felt.

There were no reports, however, of immediate food or fuel shortages in the second day of the walkout.

In Pittsburgh, steel industry spokesmen said production was continuing without interruption, but predicted problems in meeting customer demands if the strike continues.

The U.S. Department of Transportation said Thursday that a week-long strike would idle one million workers and result in a loss to the economy of up to $300 million.

Federal officials also said there would be "considerable consumer difficulties" if the strike lasts as long as two weeks. They projected curtailed food and gasoline supplies, since these products are heavily dependent on trucks for delivery.

The immediate impact of the strike by 400,000 Teamsters truck drivers and warehousemen was lessened because individual companies signed interim contracts with Teamster locals to keep their goods moving.

In addition, the nation's 100,000 independent truckers were reported to have little sympathy for the Teamsters strike and many kept their trucks on the road. The independents called a national strike in February 1974 to protest fuel costs, but failed to get support of the Teamsters.

A General Motors Corp. spokesman said that if the strike goes on GM will have to start closing plants early next week. He said the closings would be on a day-to-day basis, determined by the amount of parts in stock.

In Atlanta, a Ford assembly plant

employing about 2,500 workers was scheduled to shut down after its last shift today. Six GM plants in the Buffalo, N.Y., area were reported running low on parts and materials.

An American Motors Corp. spokesman said if the strike continues the firm would "really be in trouble" next week.

A Chrysler Corp. spokesman said that firm, too, would begin production cutbacks next week if the strike lasts.

The strike does not affect the delivery of new cars to dealers, since auto transport drivers are covered under a separate agreement.

Large manufacturing plants also faced the prospect of shutdowns within a few days. The manager of the Birmingham, Ala., plant of International Harvester said a "strike continuing more than a few days would cause ... large manpower reductions." The plant employs 2,750 persons.

New OIC member also chief

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Attorney William Johnston was selected as chairman of the Ohio Industrial Commission on Thursday, the same day his appointment as a commission member became effective.

The commission unanimously named Johnston as chairman nine hours after his appointment became active. Gov. James A. Rhodes announced the naming Wednesday, effective the next day.

He took over for Marguerite M. Neal, a Democrat who was appointed in July 1973 by a former Democratic Gov. John J. Gilligan. She resigned to take a job as deputy director of the Department of Industrial Relations.

Johnston, 30, will receive $25,800 annually as chairman. His term expires June 30, 1979.

Johnston, a Republican, replaced Gregory Stebbins as chairman. Stebbins, a Democrat, was fired by Gov. James A. Rhodes earlier this year but reinstated by a federal judge as a commissioner.

The third member of the commission is Raymond Connor, appointed by Rhodes last year.

When Stebbins was fired by Rhodes in January, the governor accused him of "inefficiency in office, neglect of duty, misfeasance, malfeasance and nonfeasance."

Stebbins was appointed in 1972 by Gilligan. Gilligan has confirmed that in late 1974 he prepared—but never followed through on—an order suspending Stebbins from his post on charges similar to those specified by Rhodes.

Writing by inmates approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — Reversing a tradition of censorship, the federal prison system is freeing inmate writers and artists to publish works dealing with prison life or any other subject they wish.

Norman A. Carlson, director of the Federal Bureau of Prisons, has issued an order repealing censorship rules and declaring that it now is bureau policy "to encourage inmates to use

'John Glenn' aids Ford campaign

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — John H. Glenn became a leader in President Ford's Ohio election campaign Thursday, but it was news to the Democratic U.S. senator.

The President Ford Committee-Ohio announced that Glenn, a regional sales manager for a milk company in Ohio, will serve as Defiance County chairman of the Ford Committee.

Glenn is no relation to Sen. John H. Glenn Jr., D-Ohio, who is scheduled to deliver the keynote address at the Democratic National Convention.

A spokesman for the Ford campaign said there was no significance to the date of the announcement—April Fools Day.

A LITTLE MORE ROOM — Warner's Sports store has moved a few doors down the block where there is a little more room for the display of sporting goods. Warner's now occupies what was formerly the Lord's clothing store.

Warner's store opens doors in new downtown location

After having spent a year at 233 E. Court Street, Jack Warner, manager of Warner's Sports store has moved.

During the past week, he has been in the process of moving the store to larger quarters just a few doors away from the former location. Warner's now occupies the building which was once Lord's clothing store, 221 E. Court Street.

Prompted by a desire to "stock more and service people better" Warner opened the new facility Thursday. The new store is air-conditioned and has a much larger floor space. Displays will be less crowded and Warner has added a footwear department. In addition to sports shoes, Warner will carry men's dress shoes.

The entire basement area of the store will be used as an office and storage area. One of the store's most important services, custom lettering for jackets, shirts and uniforms may also be located on the lower floor.

March of Dimes sets walk-a-thon

Super Walk '76, the March of Dimes second annual 20-mile walk-a-thon, is scheduled for May 15, originating at Eymann Park at 8:00 a.m.

The Washington C.H. Super Walk is a charitable fund-raising event made up of individuals and organization who walk a designated route, and are sponsored a specific amount of money for each mile they complete. Anyone can be a sponsor, including friends, relatives, businessmen and organizations.

A March of Dimes spokesman described the super walk as a total community effort. Last year the super walk attracted some 250 participants statewide although the actual number decreased the day of the event because of the weather. Last year, the Walk-A-thon made $3,200. Aside from the participants, there were another 30 volunteers handling the organization and planning.

Statistics indicate that over 200,000 children are born with physical or mental damage each year. Every hour 24 children are born in this country with birth defects. Monies raised from this event are spent in the central Ohio area to aid in the prevention of birth defects.

This year Super Walk '76 hopes to attract almost 1,000 walkers. There's no limit as to the participants in the event, and everyone is eligible. Walkers can obtain sponsor forms from the Washington Senior High or Miami Trace student councils, or by calling 486-8982, a 24-hour service.

As an added incentive, the March of Dimes will again award $250 health scholarships to the two high schools in the State with the greatest per cent per-capita participation and the greatest per-capita dollar raised.

Two $100 science department scholarships will also be awarded to junior high schools based on the same criteria.

City strike spreading in Frisco

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The municipal bus system, which carries 250,000 persons daily, recreation facilities and most public works departments were shut down today for the second day by several thousand striking city employees.

Labor leaders said picketing would spread today to two city-county hospitals. Four locals of the Service Employees International Union (SEIU), representing about 9,000 hospital, custodial, clerical and social workers, pledged to honor the picket lines.

But the SEIU itself didn't join the strike, and that news buoyed City Hall hopes of avoiding a general walkout.

Mayor George Moscone said an agreement with the union will mean at least a continuation of nursing and emergency services at the hospitals regardless of picket lines. However, 1,800 of the city's 2,500 hospital workers could honor them.

Union leaders and the city's Board of Supervisors met separately Wednesday night to map strike strategy and possible solutions.

The strike began Wednesday when 1,900 machinists, plumbers, electricians and others walked off their jobs over proposed cuts in pay. About 3,100 other city employees, including bus drivers, either refused to cross picket lines or stayed home in support of the strikers.

The strike played a hardship on thousands of the city's 677,000 residents who rely on buses to commute downtown to work. The city, anticipating a crush of private automobiles, suspended parking meter fines.

Thousands of high school students, who also ride buses to campus, did not report to class. Attendance in the lower grades, however, was about normal.

Archie Griffin joins reading skills program

COLUMBUS — Two-time Heisman Trophy winner Archie Griffin will be touring Ohio schools this spring to involve students in a new reading program being organized by the Ohio Department of Education, superintendent of public instruction Martin W. Essex announced today.

Griffin said he accepted the assignment "because I like young people and want to dedicate my life to them. I want those who now are interested only in athletics to realize that reading is basic to their success in any field."

"We are pleased to have Archie assist us in our efforts," Essex said. "He will be a strong ally in impressing upon students who have grown up in a television dominated era the importance of reading as a solid base for academic achievement and personal advancement."

Through the program, which has been named "All-America Readers," fifth grade through junior high school students will receive recognition and awards for doing special reading assignments.

Griffin will visit selected schools to explain the program to students, teachers, and school administrators. His tour begins in the Springfield City School District.

Essex said the idea of arranging another force to motivate Ohio youngsters to recognize the importance of reading skills came from Mrs. Virginia Lloyd Kunkle, who has headed Ohio's nationally acclaimed Right-to-Read Program.

To become an "All-America Reader," a pupil must become a member of the team by reading a minimum of five books or their equivalent. A certificate of membership on the All-America Reading Team will be presented. An iron-on symbol will be presented for every five readings thereafter. One hundred readings entitles a student to a touch-down award.

When 95 percent of the eligible students in a building read at least five books, the building will receive an All-America building award.

It is anticipated that school districts will use the "All-America Reading" concept to develop their own incentives for reading, possibly by instituting a Hall of Fame for readers who have the most touchdowns, or by creating competition among buildings.

In addition to the Heisman, Griffin was honored this year by the National Collegiate Athletic Association as one of the top five scholar-athletes in the country. The award is granted annually to those who have demonstrated outstanding scholastic achievement and civic involvement as well as athletic ability.

Griffin, 21, who has graduated one quarter ahead of his class, holds a bachelor of science degree from The Ohio State University College of Administrative Sciences.

Mead names new manager

The 32-year-old native Georgian assumed the post last month. He had served as operations manager at the Covington, Ga., plant before moving to Washington C.H. He is responsible for the plant's manufacturing process.

Dolan joined Mead Containers in 1964 and worked his way up through the ranks to his present managerial position. His previous duties with Mead have included a number of manufacturing and administrative responsibilities in Atlanta and Miami, Fla.

He and his wife Katy along with their 13-month-old daughter, Sophie, reside at 233 Kathryn Court.

The Music Teachers' National Association was founded at Delaware, Ohio, in 1876.

LEGAL NOTICE

Separate sealed proposals will be received at the office of the Clerk of the Washington C. H. City School District, 323 East Paint Street, Washington C.H., Fayette County, Ohio for the re-tubing of a Titusville boiler-generator, located at the Washington Middle School, 218 North North Street, Washington C. H., Ohio. Bids will be received until 12:00 o'clock noon May 7, 1976, and will be publicly opened and read by the Clerk immediately thereafter at the usual place of meeting of said board of education, and a report thereof will be made by the Clerk to said board at its next meeting.

Copies of specifications and instructions to bidders may be obtained from the Clerk of said board of education.

Bidders are required to comply with the prevailing wage sections of the Ohio Revised Code (4115.03-4115.15) and to furnish assurance of compliance with the regulations therein. Wage scales as published by the Industrial Commission of Ohio are attached to the specifications.

A bid bond equal to five per cent of the bid shall be submitted with each bid.

Said board of education reserves the right to accept or reject any and all, or parts of any and all bids.

Army to close many U. S. bases

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army said today it plans to close or impose reductions at 29 forts and other bases in a move to cut non-essential overhead and save at least $42 million.

The actions would result in elimination of 4,500 civilian jobs and transfer of 13,128 servicemen and civilian workers.

The affected bases, ranging from forts to small district recruiting headquarters, are located in 17 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

The Army plan is conditional largely on the outcome of studies assessing the impact of the moves on the environment and factors such as employment, schools and housing. The studies are required by law and will take up to nine months.

Counting cutback plans announced by the Air Force and Navy last month, the new Army actions bring the total of affected bases to 160, the number of jobs to be reduced to 22,000 and the claimed annual savings to about $248 million.

Sixteen of the 29 bases or forts would be closed. They include: Ft. Hamilton and Ft. Totten, N.Y.; Ft. MacArthur, Los Angeles; Ft. Buchanan, Puerto Rico; the Savanna Army Depot, Ill.; the Jefferson Proving Ground, Ind.; Arlington Hall Station, Va.; Vint Hill Farms Research Station, Va.; and family housing at Schilling Manor, Kan., and seven district recruiting headquarters.

The most heavily affected base is Ft. Devens, Mass., which would lose 4,372 military personnel and 846 civilian jobs with the planned transfer of the Army Security Agency Training Center, a special forces group, an engineer battalion and other troop units elsewhere. Ft. Devens would be left only with a reserve training mission.

Next hardest hit would be the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Md., which would lose 1,578 military and 741 civilian positions with the shift of an ordnance school to Redstone Arsenal, Ala., and relocation of some other activities to Ft. Eustis, Va.

In a separate action not related to the base cutbacks, the Army announced it wants to set up headquarters of a new electronics research and development command in the Washington area, which would mean removing some activities from Ft. Monmouth, N.J.

Another proposed reorganization, the Army said, would involve establishing headquarters of a new Army aviation research and development command in St. Louis.

County bicentennial meeting

The Fayette County Bicentennial Committee held its weekly meeting in the Chamber of Commerce office.

A guest at the assembly was Joe Weikert from the John Moore Entertainment Agency in Columbus. Weikert was present to promote a 30-minute bicentennial musical which has been performed in several cities and counties in Ohio.

Weikert asked the committee to consider having the musical as a fund-raising project for Fayette County bicentennial projects. The request is being reviewed by the committee.

Mrs. Betty Brubaker, activities chairman, stated that she has received a request for assistance by the Homer Lawson American Legion Post in their attempts to obtain Revolutionary War costumes.

Mrs. Willard Bitzer, a spokesman for several organizations, announced that the Ohio Daughters of the American Revolution will be making an upcoming tour of the old Northwest Territory region on the Delta Queen steamboat.

Mrs. Bitzer also informed the committee that the garden council is holding contests for the best floral decorations around mailboxes in the county. Those interested in entering the contests could contact Mrs. Edmund Thompson. The deadline is May 30. Prizes will be awarded on July 4.

Representing the Browning Club, Mrs. Bitzer stated that the club has been conducting a survey on the outstanding women of Fayette County's past.

The public is always invited to attend and contribute to the Fayette County Bicentennial Committee's meetings. They are held every Tuesday at 4:30 p.m. in the Washington C.H. Area Chamber of Commerce, 131 S. Main Street.

No clemency for murderer?

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — "Our family's feelings haven't changed. We never want Brown out," the brother of a murder victim told the State Clemency Board Wednesday.

George R. Brown, 44, serving a life sentence in the rape-slaying of an East Gary beautician, petitioned the board. He also confessed killing Lana Brock, 16, New Chicago.

Her brother, Gene Brock, appeared before the board. "If he were ever let out, I don't know what I'd do," Brock said. "I might go after him."

Brown asked the governor to commute his life term to an indeterminate sentence, making him eligible for parole. Gov. Otis R. Bowen turned down a similar request last year.

Trucker fired on in Cleveland

CLEVELAND (AP) — What police called "vigilante-group types" fired on one trucker in Cleveland early today as hundreds of northeastern Ohio drivers joined the Teamsters Union's first nationwide strike.

Police said two slugs struck the cab of Paul Allen, 37, of Marilla, N.Y., as he drove his tractor-trailer rig through Cleveland. Allen was uninjured.

In nearby Akron, where a Teamsters Local 24 official said 2,900 of the local's 3,800 members were off the road, picket lines shut down Roadway, Consolidated Freight and PIE terminals and congregated by the score on what's known as "the strip," a truck stop area in suburban Richfield.

Beer trucks were running, their drivers operating under a contract separate from that toward which national negotiations continued in Chicago after the midnight expiration of the old pact.

United Parcel Service, Kroger's and Acme trucks also continued operation this morning in Akron.

In Newburgh Heights near Cleveland, police began escorting truckers along Interstate 71 after reports that a number of cars were driving beside the haulers, trying to force them to stop and waving weapons in a threatening fashion.

Picket lines at Cleveland's Hopkins International Airport halted air cargo movement from the airport as local delivery drivers honored their colleagues' strike.

And pickets marched outside at least 10 Cleveland area trucking firms with more expected as returning drivers joined the strike.

Claim Findlay spending illegal

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Hancock County had an April 1 surprise for the city.

Edward Hugas, the county auditor, told the city it can't spend any money because officials submitted the 1976 appropriation ordinance on improper forms.

MT cindermen rout Blue Lions

Record-Herald Sports Editor

Miami Trace Coach Bill Beatty got his seconds Thursday, not to mention his firsts and thirds, as his Panther track team breezed by Washington C.H. in a cold and damp cinder match.

"They're coming along," Beatty said after the Panthers' 90½ to 36½ thumping of the Blue Lions. "When you start getting second places your tough to beat."

Miami Trace was tough. The Panthers took 10 of the 15 first-place finishes which is not all that dominating. But, they wrapped up all but two of the second-place finishes. And in those two events they didn't place second, they took both first and third.

The Panther depth was just too much for Coach Rick Crooks' Blue Lion tracksters who made one of their rare appearances in Fayette County this season. They have scheduled no home meets due to the poor condition of the Gardner Park track.

There was only one double winner in the meet. Panther sophomore Ralph Fast swept the weight events with wins in the shot put and the discus.

The Blue Lions did better in the field events Thursday than in their season opening meet with Circleville when they failed to pick up a point.

Mark Forsythe leaped 19'2" on his first jump in the long jump and passed up his final two tries to post an easy win in that event. Pole vaulter Jim Runnels cleared 11'0" to give the Blue Lions another first, but the Panthers swept all three spots in the discus and the high jump to take an early lead.

Dan Gifford cleared 6'0" in the high jump which is far below his record-breaking mark Tuesday. However, all three Panther leapers, Gifford, Art Schlichter and Glenn Cobb, jumped below their season bests. The Blue Lions were without a jumper due to an injury to Dewey Foster and the Panthers were able to just "go through the motions."

Tim Dove opened up the running events for the Blue Lions with a win in the high hurdles, but it was mostly Panthers the rest of the way.

Greg Cobb sprinted to his best time of the year to win the 100-yard dash edging out Joe Cox of Washington C.H. by a tenth of a second. Dean Faris surprisingly took third in the event for the Panthers. It was his first meet having missed the first two Panther starts because of illness. Coach Beatty said he just inserted Faris to get him loosened up, but the Panther junior finished strong with a 10.9 clocking.

Terry Rodgers and Bill Hanners teamed up to dominate the half-mile and the mile run. Rodgers won the mile with a 4:58.3 clocking and Hanners placed second at five minutes flat in his first attempt at the event.

Cox won the 220 for the Blue Lions and Bill Warnock led a Panther sweep in the quarter mile to finish up the sprints. Bill Ooten took the long race, the two mile, for the Panthers.

The two teams split the relay races with the Blue Lions easily winning the half mile and the Panthers finishing up the meet with a win in the mile.

The Panthers, who are now 2-0 in dual meets this season, will take to the cinders Saturday at Chillicothe. The meet will be relays only and powerful

Circleville will join the Panthers and Cavaliers in the four-team meet. A team from Michigan, which travels to Florida and back during spring break competing in high school track meets along the way, is also expected to be there.

The Blue Lions are idle until Tuesday when they visit Wilmington for a dual contest.

Jack worried by success

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) — Jack Billingham, having his best spring ever, is worried. The Cincinnati Reds pitcher said he always has at least one lapse and is afraid it will happen this year after the season starts.

Billingham has not walked a single batter in 12 innings this spring and allowed the Chicago White Sox only a run on four hits while striking out four in six innings Thursday.

The Reds won 3-2 and now have a spring record of 5-4. The White Sox are 5-8. The clubs meet again today at Sarasota.

"I've been out three times," said Billingham. "I have one more outing. Usually you go out seven or eight times in spring training to get ready."

"Four times is not enough. We need a longer spring. Every spring I always have a tired period when my arm feels heavy. I haven't had that at all.

"I just hope it doesn't come two weeks into the season. That's why today when I finished pitching on the mound I went to the bullpen and threw about 30 extra pitches. I wanted to get as tired as I could."

Manager Sparky Anderson said "Billingham pitched very good but he was lazy on a couple of pitches. Larry Shepard—pitching coach—was upset with him and wanted to show him what he was doing wrong."

The Reds jumped on knuckleballer Wilbur Wood for three runs in the first inning but he held them scoreless for the next five innings.

Wood walked Pete Rose, the first man up. Ken Griffey singled and Joe Morgan and George Foster hit run scoring singles.

The White Sox got a run in the fifth when Bucky Dent hit into a double play, scoring Cleon Jones who had doubled.

Chicago scored again in the ninth on errors by second baseman Morgan and Doug Flynn at shortstop. Jorge Orta singled, went to second on Buddy Bradford's single and came home on the second error.

Billingham spaced four hits and struck out four, walking none going the six innings, longest of any Cincinnati pitcher this spring.

Wood gave up only three more hits and no runs after the first inning.

Pair tied in Greensboro Open

GREENSBORO, N.C. (AP) — Som "pot luck" iron shots, a brand-new putter and some wet, shivering pickets were the first-round features in the $230,000 Greater Greensboro Open Golf Tournament.

"The fairways were so muddy you were just playing pot luck out there,"

said big Jimmy Wiechers, who survived his difficulties Thursday with a five-under-par 66 that gave him a tie for the lead with old pro Gay Brewer.

Brewer, using a new putter in competition for the first time, got his share of first place late in the cold, windy, cloudy, occasionally drizzly day with eagles on two of his last four holes.

Included in their galleries — in the dismal weather that has become a fixture at this old tournament — were some shivering, placard-carrying NBC technicians who are on strike and were picketing the cameras that are scheduled to provide national television coverage of portions of the final two rounds Saturday and Sunday. The show will go on, NBC officials said.

"I'm playing as good as I've ever played," insisted the slump-ridden, 44-year-old Brewer. "It's my putting and chipping that has held me back."

So the gray-haired veteran, winner of 11 titles in a 20-year career, took the last two weeks off, went home to Palm Springs, Calif., and worked on his short game.

He finally settled on a new model of an old standard club, brought it to Greensboro and, using it in competition for the first time, one-putted half the greens and holed five putts in the 20-25 foot range.

Two of those were for the eagles that vaulted him past 19 players.

They shared a one-stroke advantage over Dave Stockton, U.S. Open champ Lou Graham and Bob Payne, tied at 67.

The group at 68, three under par on the wet, hilly, 6,643-yard Sedgefield Country Club course, were Lee Trevino, Kermit Zarley, Don Bies, DeWitt Weaver, Miller Barber and Allen Miller.

Defending champion Tom Weiskopf headed a large group at 69. Gary Player shot a 72 and 63-year-old Sam Snead, an eight-time winner of this tournament, was at 73.

Sports briefs

Griffin replacement on Woody's mind

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A search for a replacement for Archie Griffin and overall team speed will be the top priorities for Woody Hayes when he launches his 26th Ohio State football coaching season Saturday with the opening of spring practice.

Bo Schembechler tested at hospital

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) — Michigan football coach Bo Schembechler was still undergoing diagnostic tests Thursday and was to be hospitalized at least another three or four days, officials at St. Joseph's Mercy Hospital said.

Doctors said the coach was listed in satisfactory condition after being admitted to the hospital Tuesday with a temperature of 101 degrees and some discomfort in his chest.

Race to Knight wins Lebanon race

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Race to Knight breezed to a seven-length victory in the featured conditioned pace at Lebanon Raceway Thursday night.

The winner went the mile in 2:08 to return $16.00, $9.20 and $4.00. Right and Ready paid $4.00 and $3.00. Miss Holly Sue was the show horse at $3.80.

Vital Flame wins feature at Latonia

FLORENCE, Ky. (AP) — Vital Flame, a 4-5 favorite, claimed a wire-to-wire victory, winning by a length in the $3,600 feature allowance at Latonia Thursday night.

The winner went the mile in 1:40 3-5 to return $3.60, $3.00 and $2.40. Notsolaka paid $5.20 and $3.00. The show horse was Red Pipe at $2.80.

Blue Lions blast London in opener

Washington C.H. finally got its baseball season underway Thursday after suffering through two rainouts. The Blue Lions were more than ready, however, as they completely dominated London High School, 18-1, in a darkness-shortened, five-inning home game.

Washington C.H. under first-year coach Dwight Garrett pounced out 10 hits and made good use of 11 walks in the run-away victory.

Capping the strong offensive show at the plate for the Blue Lions was veteran second-baseman Mark Fisher, who blasted a two-run homer. He had three of the Lions' 11 runs batted in. Dee Foster led Court House with four RBI's.

Garrett has a strong nucleus back from last year's Blue Lion squad. Randy Sparkman, an all-league selection last year, heads the list.

Other starters back from Coach Rodger Mickle's 1975 team are Fisher, Scott Johnson, David Thompson and Randy Gardner.

The Blue Lions will open league play Friday afternoon at home against Greenfield McClain.

Kuhn studies expansion to Toronto

NEW YORK (AP) — Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn — caught in the middle of a battle that now involves two countries, both pro leagues and some of the United States' most influential politicians — still is looking for a comfortable seat on the Toronto expansion time bomb.

Kuhn set the incendiary mechanism at seven days by announcing Thursday that the American League may expand to "Canada's commercial capital if, before that period expires, the league can provide "suitable provision for Washington." If it does not, he said, "I will consider the application of the National League" for a 1977 franchise.

The commissioner did not define what a "suitable provision" would be and said he did not expect an enthusiastic response to his ruling.

In a seven-paragraph prepared statement that outlined his position, Kuhn admitted that "this decision may well be disappointing in whole or in part to all of the parties and communities involved."

No one agreed more readily than AL President Lee MacPhail, whose opinion was that "any attempt by the Commissioner to interfere is neither just nor fair."

But there are things MacPhail and his owners may have overlooked in making the statement, such as the fact that "during the past week political and civic leaders in Washington have urged me to take the necessary steps to return baseball to the Nation's Capital. These leaders include President Ford" according to Kuch.

The WEEDERS Guide

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Adhesives — and wood —
may help solve some of the world's timber, oil, inflation
and housing demand problems.
A recent U.S. Forest Products Laboratory Symposium on
"Adhesives for Products from Wood" at Madison, Wis., drew
100 persons to listen to papers
from this country, Germany,
Canada, New Zealand and
South Africa.

As a laboratory spokesman
put it, adhesives may be as vital to your future as the nail
was to that rider who long ago
lost his horse because it threw
a shoe.

First, timber. The demand for wood products is expected to grow rapidly by the end of the century. One solution is to grow more trees, but trees planted today will hardly be ready for harvest by the year 2000. The alternative is to make better use of available wood
ter.

Laboratory researchers are looking for economical ways to get more products from harvested trees. Adhesives can help.

One way is through using residues — wood left in the forest
after harvesting. At present,
forest residues amount to about 9.6 billion cubic feet a year, almost three-fourths as much
wood as is used for products
annually, the laboratory estimated. Included are limbs, tree
tops, broken logs.

These residues, impractical
for use as lumber or veneer,
may become valuable as a raw material for production of particleboard — panel-shaped products made from small pieces of wood held together with adhesive. Scientists reported they could affect board strength by altering the shape of the wood particles and by controlling pressing time, pressure and the amount of adhesive used. A crucial element is availability of proper adhesive.

Adhesives will permit man to use wood's inherent strength better and to make improved products with less wood, or with low-quality wood.

One example cited is a laboratory innovation labeled Press
Lam. Thick wood veneers made by peeling the log with a knife, are dried, coated with adhesive, then laminated in an overlapping fashion into a continuous thick sheet that can be cross-cut and rip sawed into lumber-type products. Press Lam can use low-grade wood because defects such as knots are randomized in different layers.

Houses can benefit from increased use of adhesives. Bonding the siding or plywood sheathing to the wall studs with adhesives results in a stiffer and stronger building with use of less wood.

So — why not use adhesives in making wood products and save forests for other things?

The right adhesive requires research and adhesives are expensive.

Adhesives have been made from animal parts, blood, case-in (a constituent of milk) and more recently oil. Many of the waterproof, durable adhesives need phenolic resins, an oil derivative, which has climbed in price from 6 cents a pound to 30 cents in three years.

Production of adhesives from bark, papermill waste and bonding without adhesives were also discussed. Bark is one of the least used wood processing residues. Some barks contain tannin, which can be extracted and used as a chemical feedstock to produce adhesive. This is being checked. In paper making, some processes remove lignin, a natural glue that holds the tree together.

Another development that could cut dependence on oil for making adhesives is a chemical treatment that bonds pieces of wood to one another by causing the molecules in each piece to join together across the interface.

INDEPENDENCE SPIRIT PICTURES EXHIBITED

NEW YORK (AP) — Twelve of America's leading contemporary artists have interpreted the theme, "Spirit of Independence," in a lithograph or ser-igraph in editions of 125 signed and numbered original prints.

In the coming months, 109
U.S. museums will hold special exhibits featuring these 12 pictures. Each museum will have received a donation by Lorillard, a division of Loews Corp., of the 12 pictures for the museum's permanent collection.

In addition, a traveling exhibition, through the American Federation of Arts, will go to many other museums and colleges during 1976. The United States Information Agency will show the prints, called the Kent Bicentennial Portfolio, in foreign countries.

Lorillard, established in 1760, is one of a handful of companies now existing that were in business since before the American Revolution.

Museum to open weekends

A new time schedule during which the Fayette County Historical Society Museum will be open to the public has been announced.

Additional staffing by trustee members now permits the museum to open its doors from 2 to 5 p.m. Saturdays and Sundays. Visitors will be personally conducted through 14 rooms of exhibits, with historical information provided by the guides.

New exhibits have been added since the museum's closing last fall, and group tours have already been scheduled for April and May.

Large groups desiring to visit the former mansion are requested to contact the curator, B.E. Kelley, for weekday appointments.

Admission charges are $1 for adults, and 25 cents for students. Children under 10, when accompanied by an adult, are admitted free.

Those visitors making use of the museum's parking facilities are asked to park as close as possible to the coach house to allow room for cars arriving later.

All Fayette County Historical Society members will be admitted to the museum without charge.

POLICE

FRIDAY — Edward E. Corey, 26, of New Holland, failure to register.

THURSDAY — Patricia L. Jackson, 28, of Jeffersonville, failure to maintain assured clear distance ahead; Donald Ward, 19, U.S. 22, Jasper-Mill Rd., driving under suspension.

Two injured in rear-end auto collision

Two people showed visible signs of injury after a Thursday morning accident in which a Jeffersonville woman was later cited by Washington C.H. police officers for failing to maintain an assured clear distance ahead.

Donald R. Matthews, 23, of 1539 U.S. 35, was stopped for traffic on North Street, just north of Rose Avenue, when he was struck by a car driven by Patricia L. Jackson, 28, of Jeffersonville, which had apparently failed to maintain an assured clear distance.

Two passengers in the Jackson vehicle showed visible signs of injury from the 10:47 a.m. accident. Melissa Jackson, 3, of Jeffersonville, and her sister Michelle, 4, were not treated at the hospital. Both cars in the mishap received moderate damage.

Death penalty arguments pondered

WASHINGTON (AP) — Is the death penalty legalized butchery that should be abolished or is it a constitutional form of punishment that states must have to stem a rising number of murders?

That's the decision the Supreme Court faces after two days of hearings in which lawyers pleaded for the lives of condemned clients, while states and the Ford administration argued that the death penalty is constitutional and each state should decide its own need for capital punishment.

The court took the question under advisement Wednesday and is expected to decide the issue in June. The nine justices have a wide variety of possible decisions, ranging from an outright ban on the death penalty to giving states even broader powers to impose it.

But Solicitor Gen. Robert H. Bork, representing the U.S. government as a "friend of the court," said the penalty should remain "for the deterrence of crime and the expression of moral outrage."

In addition to upholding capital punishment, Bork said, the court should free the states from restrictions imposed when the high court limited

the use of capital punishment in a 1972 ruling.

Bork received support from Justice Lewis F. Powell Jr., who voted with the minority in 1972 to support broad use of the death penalty. Powell appeared incredulous at Amsterdam's contention that there should be no death penalty on the books, suggesting that "society must have some effective alternative."

Powell said the U.S. murder rate had climbed 42 per cent since 1968, adding that the 19,000 persons slain in 1973 meant there were more Americans killed in this country in a year "than on the battlefields of Vietnam" during any single year of the war in Southeast Asia.
